RUMOR JOINS P.G.E. WITH B.C.E. OFFER

Interests Associated With Lord Rothermere Reported Negotiating for Both Systems

GOVERNMENT REMAINS SILENT

Valuable Water Power Development at Bridge River Would Permit Electrifying Line

THERE is a persistent rumor that not only are interests, British and Canadian, associated with Lord Rothermere likely to acquire the control of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, but that they are also most likely to make an offer for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway which the Provincial Government is seeking to sell.

Members of the government of the province have been expecting to receive an offer relative to the P.G.E. at any time. They refuse to say anything with respect to the source whence the offer is likely to come, and so reticent have they been in the matter of revealing anything as to the personnel of the prospective purchasers of the P.G.E. line that Premier MacLean, when speaking in the Legislature a few weeks ago, announced that the information had not been conveyed even to the Government's own followers in the House.

ARE TWO LINKED UP?

The subject of the B.C. Electric deal is confirmed by press dispatches to the extent that an offer is reported to be now about to be made for acquisition of that corporation's holdings.

The P.G.E. may be said in some respects to be more or less intimately connected with the other transaction. The B.C. Electric holds along the line of the Government-owned railway a very extensive water power, which is now being developed and which is expected for the future to play an important part in the industrial development of the Coast cities.

This Bridge River power, which the electric company holds, represents, it is said, about 170,000 horsepower, which it is proposed to develop in units, and make use of as required. But in addition to this is is announced by the Department of Lands that there is some 200,000 or more horsepower that is still under reserve, and which would be available as required for industrial development.

It is therefore well within the range of possibility that in the operation of the P.G.E., should it be acquired, the use of electric power may be brought into requisition. In this way it is possible a material reduction in the cost of operation may be effected.

The acquisition of the P.G.E. would carry with it the immense land grant of 16,000,000 acres that

Many Proposals Are Considered By Game Board

VANCOUVER, April 12.—Recommendations of the various game protective associations and sportsmen in general were heard tonight by the British Columbia Board of Game Commissioners.

Considerable discussion was caused over a suggestion that the bag limit on migratory game birds be reduced. Other questions discussed were the establishment of feeding and shooting grounds in lower British Columbia, the important question of the leasing of lands for private shooting reserves, methods for the propagation of game birds in the province, and the changing of the present time limits on shooting sheds. The board will take all suggestions under advisement.

SIKH TEMPLE IS SCENE OF CELEBRATION

EXERCISES OPEN WITH DEVOTIONS

It was a gala day yesterday at the Sikh Temple, on Topaz Avenue, in the Hillside district, and the East Indian house of worship was festooned with flags and pennants, the yellow flag of the Khalsa Diwan flying over all. The occasion was the annual gathering of the Victoria branch of the fraternal society of the Khalsa Diwan which is held on the birthday of Guru Gobind Singh, tenth and last of the Sikh gurus and the virtual founder of organized Sikhism.

The day began with several hours of devotions beginning at 4 o'clock, during which the presiding priest, Mr. Gopal Singh, read and intoned the prayers as prescribed in the Sikh manuals of devotion. The balance of the forenoon was spent in the reception of fellow members who came from Vancouver on the night boat, and in social intercourse which led up to the fraternal meal held in the temple dining-room. A further domestic touch was given to the occasion by the presence of the Indian wives and children, which have latterly increased in number since the Government has

LOCAL BOXING BOARD MOOTED

City Police Commission Asked to Appoint Body to Control Sport in This District

QUESTION TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Victoria may have a boxing commission to direct and control the activities in that sport here and have full charge of the local boxing situation.

Advocacy of the formation of such a body was made to the City Police Commission yesterday by the Vancouver Island Boxing Association, in a letter signed by Mr. W. H. Davies, secretary of the organization.

Mr. Davies wrote that at a meeting of the Vancouver Island Boxing Association held at Duncan on Saturday night, March 10, he was instructed to communicate with the Victoria Police Board and endeavor to have it appoint a local boxing commission, composed of experienced business men, who would have full control of boxing here. He pointed out that boxing commissions were in existence in practically every large city on the continent and they had done wonderful work in helping keep the sport clean.

Police Commissioner William White supported the suggestion, declaring he believed that a boxing commission should be created in Victoria. He inquired whether the Police Commission or the City Council had the power to form such a body.

Chief of Police John Fry said he saw no objection to a boxing commission, stating, "I think it would help things along." He asserted that such a commission would have to come to the Police Board to secure authority to put on boxing shows, and that such tournaments would be held under police supervision.

Police Commissioner Walter E. Staneland's suggestion that the board get in touch with Vancouver, and ascertain how the boxing commission there was formed and what success its administration had enjoyed, was adopted.

SHIELD GOES TO SCHUBERT CLUB CHOIR

Keen Interest Shown in Competition Between Three Ladies' Organizations Yesterday

REALLY FINE WORK SAYS DR. FRICKER

Musical Festival Awards Greeted With Applause and Good-Tempered Partisan Feeling

THE Schubert Club choir, conducted by Mr. Ffederic King, took the highest marks in the Musical Festival Class 19 contest at the First United Church last night, thus retaining for the second year The Daily Colonist Shield which they won amid great applause last year.

This was unquestionably one of the most keenly followed of yesterday's festival events, and although numerous other items on the evening programme provoked enthusiastic applause, the major interest was reserved for the contest between the three ladies' choirs.

"You have heard some really fine singing, singing that surprises and delights me. It has been delightful to hear these three choirs," declared Dr. Fricker, the adjudicator, in the prefatory criticisms leading up to the announcement of the marks secured by the three competitors. First United Church ladies' choir, led by Mr. W. C. Fyfe, came second, and Metropolitan ladies' choir, led by Mr. George A. Downard, third.

APPLAUSE GENEROUS

The awards were greeted with applause, the enthusiasm, however, being regulated by good-tempered partisan feeling. The crowning interest of the occasion came at the very last, when the adjudicator, Dr. Fricker, took the baton and conducted the assembled three competing ladies' choirs through the two competition numbers, "The Nightingale" (Weelkes), and "The Wind" (Sweeting). This unrehearsed feat redounded to the credit of conductor and singers alike, and a deafening hail of applause awarded the performance.

Mr. George Jay delivered the opening address last evening, reiterating the good wishes of previous festival speakers, and as spokesman of the Victoria School Board, expressing the ambitious interest which that musical body takes in the musical welfare of Victoria's school children.

COMPLETE FINALS

The evening's programme brought several other contests to a close with the completion of the finals in three or four classes. A particularly popular award was the presentation to Miss Adele Bucklin of the handsome silver cup presented by The Victoria Daily Times for the winner of the highest number of points in any of the violin classes. Mr. J. G. Brown, president

MR. FORD IN COMPANY OF KING AND QUEEN

LONDON, April 12.—Mr. Henry Ford met King George and Queen Mary this afternoon at Clivedon, the country home of Lady Astor, says The London Daily Mail. Their Majesties arrived for an afternoon call and almost simultaneously Mr. Ford came as a week-end guest. The King and Queen, Mr. Ford and Lady Astor had tea together and talked for nearly two hours.

Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, who were married at Clivedon today, had not left for London when Their Majesties arrived, and they too were presented to the King and Queen.

CHOSING CANDIDATES IN ST. MARY-LE-BONE

LONDON, April 12.—The recent appointment of Sir Douglas Hogg, now Lord Hailsham, as Lord Chancellor, has necessitated a by-election in St. Mary-le-bone. As the riding is regarded as a safe seat for the Government there is no lack of possible Conservative candidates. The choice is settled upon Sir Rennell Rodd, but there is no official confirmation of this as yet. Sir Rennell is a noted diplomat and writer.

Basil Murray, son of Professor Murray of Oxford University, has been selected as Liberal candidate. He is only twenty-five years of age.

David Ross is the Labor nominee. He has held staff appointments in Oxford and London Universities.

Fire in Alix, Alberta

ALIX, Alberta, April 12.—Four buildings on the west side of Main Street were destroyed last night, the damage being estimated at around $20,000. Starting in Brown's Pool Hall, a two-story building, the flames rapidly spread and it was not long before the fire was raging in Thompson's Hardware Store, the branch of the Royal Bank of Canada and Mr. Darlow's office. The postoffice was also damaged by the leaping flames.

Coroner's Jury Gives Verdict on Wreck of Dam

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of the St. Francis Dam flood victims late today brought in a verdict stating that the victims came to their deaths from the breaking of the dam, which was due to defective foundations. B.C. COMMAND SESSIONS OPEN

Substantial Increase Reported in Membership of Provincial Command of Canadian Legion

CHANGE ADVISED IN USE OF LEVY

KAMLOOPS, April 12.—There are ninety-eight chartered branches of the provincial command with a total membership of 7,315, Comrade Robert Macnicol, secretary-organizer, told the annual convention of the Provincial Command, Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League today. In addition there are twenty-six chartered branches of women's auxiliaries. Twelve new charters have been issued since he took office in October, 1927, three new branches organized, and four new charters have been granted to women's auxiliaries. More than 1,700 new membership applications have been received within the past six months, he reported.

COMMAND FINANCES

In recommending that the Dominion command of the legion be urged to reduce its per capita levy from $1 to 75 cents, Comrade Macnicol stated that two-thirds of the per capita levy made by the provincial command went to the Dominion comand. This averaged more than $490 per month. If this levy were divided equally between the Dominion and provincial command, it would mean that the British Columbia command would be placed on a self-supporting basis

Circulation Managers Convention Concludes

VANCOUVER, April 11.—Albany, Oregon, was chosen as the next meeting place of the Northwest Circulation Managers' Association at today's session of the sixth annual convention, which is being held here. J. B. T. Martin, of the Spokane Chronicle, was re-elected president, and E. P. Hopwood, of The Oregonian, Portland, will continue as secretary-treasurer. E. A. McKee, of The Longview News, was elected vice-president. H. F. Lyness, of The Tacoma Ledger, and H. F. Gates, of Vancouver, were made directors.

The convention concluded at the afternoon session following further discussion on circulation problems.

VICTORIA MAY PLAY HOST TO AIR CARAVAN

Chamber of Commerce to Consider Proposal to Invite Party of 200 Aerial Tourists to City

TWENTY AIRPLANES TO TOUR CONTINENT

Victoria may be included in the itinerary of the first aerial caravan in the history of North America this Summer when twenty giant airplanes will carry 200 passengers on a scenic tour across the continent.

Yesterday Mr. Cecil Eve, manager of the B.C. Airways, was in conference with officials of the Chamber of Commerce, discussing the project of extending an invitation to the caravan to visit this city.

Today the directors of the Chamber of Commerce will consider the proposition. It is considered altogether likely that the chamber executive will decide to invite the party here.

The aerial tourists are scheduled to visit Seattle. The trip from that city to Victoria is a matter of a mere hour for such machines as will be used, and it is thought likely that the airplane travelers would welcome the opportunity of crossing to British Columbia soil.

FACILITIES OFFERED

The B.C. Airways, Mr. Eve said last night, would place the facilities of the Lansdowne Road airdrome at the disposal of the tourists and would do everything possible to make their visit a success.

Victoria is fortunately situated in the possession of a suitable airdrome. Acceptance of an invitation to visit this city would place Victoria in the forefront of publicity, for such a novel event as the projected aerial tour will be given widespread advertisement gratuitously in the shape of news stories in the newspapers and magazines of the continent.

According to present plans the squadron will take off from New

SOLOMON ISLANDERS DIE IN CONFINEMENT

TULGAI, Solomon Island, April 12.—Thirteen of the tribesmen who were arrested here last Autumn in connection with the massacre of two British officers, the crew of the British steamer Auk and fifteen native police, have died in jail, while awaiting trial. Their deaths are attributed to their unaccustomed prison diet, lack of exercise and fretting.

Governor-General Addresses Scouts

VANCOUVER, April 12.—"There is no form of organization in the British Empire that is doing more to produce honorable citizens than the Boy Scout movement," said His Excellency Viscount Willingdon, Chief Scout of Canada, at the Auditorium tonight, where a display programme was presented by the Wolf Cubs of Greater Vancouver. The occasion of the brief address of His Excellency was the presentation to him of a handsome bouquet by Wolf Cub Joe Patrick for Lady Willingdon, who was unable to be present.

TERRORIST BOMB KILLS SPECTATORS

Explosion Within Seven-Foot Metal Base, Broadcasts Fragments of Iron for Hundreds of Yards

MILAN, April 12. — Terrorists placed a powerful bomb in the base of one of the electric light lamp posts lining the Piazza Giulio Cesare, and it exploded with terrific force this morning, killing at least fifteen persons and injuring forty or more about the time King Victor Emmanuel was due to pass the spot. Thousands had gathered to salute the King on his way to the fairgrounds to inaugurate an exhibition.

The explosion tore the lamp post to pieces and sent huge chunks of iron in all directions.

The King, who had arrived at Milan half an hour before, was somewhat delayed in proceeding to the fairgrounds by the enthusiastic populace which crowded the streets and the squares. It was due to the slowness of the royal procession that the King escaped being in the very midst of the disaster. The first automobiles, containing the sovereign, the members of his suite and accompanying municipal authorities, were still moving slowly along the Corso Vercelli, before anything was known of the calamity, and when ambulances and litters were seen at the Sempione gate. Word of the explosion did not reach the King until he reached the fairground, a few minutes after 10 o'clock.

THROWN EIGHTH OF MILE

The base of the lamp post, within which the bomb had been placed, had a circumference of abut seven or eight feet. Therefore the diameter of the explosive power of the bomb was increased many fold.

SOME $50,000,000 INVOLVED IN DEAL

VANCOUVER, April 12. — Mr. George Kidd, president of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, received today from the office of the company in London, a cable notifying him that an offer had been made for the purchase of the preferred and deferred ordinary shares of the company by Lord Rothermere and Canadian associates. Beyond this notification Mr. Kidd had no other information.

The deferred and preferred ordinary shares of the B.C.E.R. have a par value of £3,880,000. At the price of £240 per one hundred pound share of the preferred and £280 per hundred pounds for the deferred ordinary shares, which has been offered, the deal would represent a transaction involving approximately $30,000,000.

Transatlantic Flyers Overdue Off Shores of Newfoundland Island

Aviators Expected to Be Over Southeastern End of Newfoundland by 12 o'Clock, Pacific Time, Last Night—Not Seen There, Though Skies Clear

None of Twenty-Four Ships on Route Report Any Sight of Flying Plane

NEW YORK, April 13.—A chill pall of silence enveloped the fate of the Junker plane Bremen and her crew of three at the beginning of the second day since she took off from Baldonnel Field, Ireland. "No report from any source," was the only reply available for anxious inquiries shortly after 2 o'clock Eastern standard time, yesterday morning, when the silver-hued ship flickered for a moment in view of Irish Civic Guards at Slyne Head, most westerly point of Connaught.

None of the twenty-four ships ploughing the North Atlantic routes had reported sighting the Bremen although radio stations up and down the coast were on the alert throughout yesterday and last night.

The aviators left Dublin at 5 o'clock a.m., Thursday morning; that is, at 9 o'clock p.m., Wednesday, Pacific standard time. They expected to pass Newfoundland within twenty-seven hours, or not later than 12 midnight, Thursday, Pacific time, and to arrive at New York within a total of forty hours, or not later than 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, Pacific time.

SKIES CLEAR

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 12.—Midnight Atlantic time, 10:30 p.m. Eastern standard time, brought no word of the German transatlantic flyers from the lighthouses, wireless stations and telegraph stations along the coast tonight.

At 9:30 o'clock local time, 10 o'clock Eastern standard time, the weather had cleared and flying conditions had become excellent. The night was clear and the visibility good.

LAST SIGHT OF PLANE

LONDON, April 12.—Up to 11 o'clock tonight no direct news had been received from the Bremen. The report that the plane had been seen 880 miles west of Ireland seemed to rest on no justifiable basis, and the last authentic report was that of the civic guards who saw the plane passing over Slyne Head, the most westerly point of Connaught, at 7:30 a.m.

LAST SEEN OFF COAST

After waiting two weeks in Ireland for favorable weather, the Bremen took off at 9:38 o'clock Pacific Standard time, yesterday morning, and headed for New York undaunted by the fate that has befallen every previous attempt to fly the North Atlantic from east to west in an airship.

Three other planes have made the attempt but none succeeded, and the bodies of the seven members of their crews, five men and two women, have never been found.

When last seen, the Bremen was out over the Atlantic, having passed over Costello, on the Galway Coast, at 7:05. In her cockpit, where there are dual controls, sat Captain Herman Koehl, the German pilot, and the co-pilot, Colonel James Fitzmaurice, head of the Irish Free State Air Service, and behind them in the roomy fuselage cabin was Gunther von Huenefeld, promoter of the flight. Col Fitzmaurice, who joined the expedition at the German's invitation, carried a letter from President Cosgrave to President Coolidge.

The airplane is following the North Atlantic or great circle route. "It is only 2,050 miles to St. John's that way," Fitzmaurice gaily told The Associated Press before he started.

DIFFICULT TAKE-OFF

Just how near the Bremen was to disaster during the first mad rush to lift its five tons of dead weight into the air, perhaps only Capt. Koehl can tell. Gasps of horror changing quickly into cries of joyful relief burst from the few score of spectators far out on the runway when the Bremen, with her 650 gallons of explosive fuel, seemingly refused to take the air at the pilot's first attempt and careened on toward what would have been a certain crash if the plane had not slowly lifted, steadied and skimmed around the fresh green foothills of the Dublin Mountains and disappeared into the West.

NINETY MILES TO HOUR

The Bremen flew across Ireland at ninety miles an hour, its most effective cruising speed, and was seen to head westward towards its distant goal. The day passed without word of any ship having sighted the plane, but this caused no anxiety as it was remembered the planes which made successful flights in the other direction last Summer were seen but rarely after they left land behind them.

have been set aside by the Legislature at the instance of the Government for use in disposing of the road.

VALUABLE PULP LAND

In this connection the opinion has been expressed by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, as the responsible Minister over the department that has to deal with timber which should have more or less exact information respecting the timber wealth there, that the stands of timber in the Horsefly country in the vicinity of Quesnel and along other parts of the P.G.E. Railway, are such that a pulp mill of 600 tons capacity a day can be supplied in perpetuity therefrom.

An idea of what this means is better conveyed when it is taken into account that the Powell River mill now operating, and the largest in the province, has a daily capacity of 450 tons.

due in large measure to an oversupply, it would seem, but this condition is not likely to continue for any long time. The situation will be righted, and the demand for pulp and paper will again be restored. Looking to the early future, the acquisition of timber such as is located along the P.G.E. is held in many circles to be a wise investment.

There is no question that the Government of the province will be anxious to dispose of the railway for two reasons. One of these is that by so doing a vexed question will be removed from politics, and the second incentive would spring from the fact that it would afford a ground for appeal to the people at the approaching election.

B.C. COMMAND SESSIONS OPEN

without having to resort to campaigns for the purpose of raising funds. He also recommended that the Provincial Government be asked to make a grant towards the fund of the command. This is already being done by the governments of Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba, he said.

OPENING SESSION

More than 100 delegates to the third annual convention of Provincial Command, Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, were in attendance at the opening session which commenced here at 10 a. m. Most of the delegates arrived this morning from branches of the legion in all parts of the province. Zone representatives and other members of the executive committee arrived Wednesday morning to attend the preliminary meeting of the executive committee.

Following registration of delegates, the convention opened with a silent tribute to fallen comrades, Lieutenant-Colonel W. W. Foster, D.S.O., presiding.

Addresses of welcome were delivered by Mayor Moffat, of Kamloops, and Major W. C. Angus, president of Kamloops branch of the legion and vice-president of the provincial command, who extended the hospitality of the city to the delegates. Reports of the president and secretary and appointment of committees occupied the remainder of the morning session.

A lengthy list of resolutions has been prepared. These deal principally with the welfare of returned men and their dependents, immigration problems and the conscription of wealth and labor as well as man power in times of war.

In presenting his presidential report for the year, Lieutenant-Colonel Foster referred to the good work accomplished by Comrade Robert Macnicol since his appointment as secretary-treasurer in October last.

Arrangements have been concluded, he said, for taking over the G.W.V.A. yearbook, and publishing it under the auspices of the legion as the Provincial Poppy Day Yearbook.

One of the greatest helps I have found to lend the "knowing touch" to a smart appearance is my powder base. Youth Cream. It gives your skin the perfect smoothness of chiseled beauty. This stamps you knowing the art of attracting.

I give credit for the discovery of Youth Cream to France, where I have always gone in search of the ultra in cosmetic art.

FOLLOWING an ancient custom, His Majesty the King on Maundy Thursday passes out coins to as many poor people as he is years old. This custom dates back through the centuries as a ceremony that each monarch has performed on Maundy Thursday. A. Rosenthal, Toronto, who collects coins, has sets distributed by eleven different sovereigns. The coins have been sold to collectors at the different times by the recipients. This picture shows Mr. Rosenthal, and some of the coins he has collected.

SIKH TEMPLE IS SCENE OF CELEBRATION

BUILDING CROWDED

In the afternoon the building was crowded during the prolonged programme. The Colonist representative found upon the veranda a motley assemblage of shoes, mainly of the white people and most of them ladies, who attended the proceedings in considerable numbers. For the Sikh custom is that none may enter the house of worship but in stockinged feet, and as chairs are not provided the white visitors, along with swarthy turbaned Sikh men and comely Indian women, whose heads were kerchiefed in varied colors, must dispose themselves as best they may upon the carpeted floor.

During the afternoon an address was given in English by Mr. Sohn Lal, of Duncan, in which he told of the rise of the Sikh faith under Guru Nanak, who was born in 1469 A.D. He was the first of the gurus or saintly men of this religion and his teaching, said the speaker, was that of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. He rejected the institution of caste, idolatry and superstition, preached the existence of a universal spirit of whom all men are emanations, and set a high standard of moral life. The speaker explained the five symbols of Sikhism which were given by Gobind Singh, the tenth guru, who was born in 1675 and who welded all adherents of the Sikh faith into an aggressive organization which has persisted till today. The symbol of the iron ring which is worn on the left wrist of the orthodox Sikh is designed to recall the wearer from any contemplated evil act. The Sikhs, he claimed, were democratic, practised brotherhood and were opposed to war.

INTERESTING EVENT

An interesting event in the afternoon's proceedings and which excited much enthusiasm was the reception of a young Sikh, Hardial Singh, of Duncan, the son of Balwant Singh, a former priest in Victoria and Vancouver. Mr. Balwant Singh, who died in 1915, was very active in endeavoring to further the Sikh cause in this country, and had interviewed the Ottawa and London authorities to that end. In solemn ceremony the young man, who has just returned from India, was presented with a turban out of respect for his deceased father, the presentation being preceded by a chanted song of welcome on behalf of the Sikh fraternity.

Exhortations bearing upon the doctrine and morals of their religion were given by several speakers, interspersed with periods of singing of hymns, provided by a small choir of men to the accompaniment of an orchestra composed of drums, harmoniums and cymbals. Under a canopy of red, on which various symbols were inscribed, was the reading desk on which rested the holy book of the Sikh religion, covered with a fine shawl. Failing away from the desk to the floor were great gorgeous cloths of purple, heavily brocaded with gold. Perpetually the priest waved a wand of fine hair over the sacred book, and as the members entered, they approached the edge of the wide-spread cloth in front of the book, folded their hands in worshipful fashion and bent their forehead to the floor. Offerings were laid upon the carpet. Children played about the floor.

FRATERNAL ORDER

The Khalsa Diwan is a fraternal organization composed mainly of Sikhs, although Hindus and Mussalmans are also admitted. Its aim is to promote the observance of the Sikh faith and practices and to aid all members of the society. Contributions were made during the afternoon to the society's funds, and reports were read of the society's affairs. The officers of the Victoria branch are: President, Mr. Shan Singh; secretary, Mr. Sohn Singh; treasurer, Mr. Kartar Singh, all of Victoria. In connection with the temple is a hostel in which the priest resides and which has a dormitory and kitchen for the use of traveling brethren of the faith.

When the base of the lamp post burst, fragments of metal were scattered over a radius of an eighth of a mile. A huge hole was ripped in the pavement for a distance of a hundred or more feet, and great crevices were opened in the square.

A woman looking out of a window of a house nearby was struck by a flying metal splinter and killed instantly. A little girl, who was known to have been clinging to the lamp post near the top, in order to get a beter view of the procession, was blown to pieces. All that could be found of her was a hand.

MUSSOLINI PROMPT

ROME, April 12.—Premier Mussolini personally supervised measures for discovery of those responsible for today's bomb explosion at Milan, as soon as he received word of the outrage.

Acting with the promptness which has characterized him in emergencies, he gave instructions himself for the capture of the perpetrators of the bombing and to prevent their escape from Italy. He also announced the dispatch of various inspectors-general of police from Rome to Milan.

The Premier sent warmest congratulations to King Victor Emmanuel on his escape from the bombing. The Queen and other members of the royal family were immediately informed of the outrage and the King's escape and his cool attitude.

Coroner's Jury at Fernie Gives Verdict

FERNIE, B.C., April 12.—"That deceased came to his death through a bullet entering the stomach, said bullet having been fired from a revolver in the hands of James Sutherland," was the verdict returned tonight by a coroner's jury which investigated the death of Patrick Nicholson, victim of a shooting affray at Corbin, B.C., on the night of April 6 last.

Sutherland has been held by the police on a charge of murder since the death of Nicholson.

Automobiles Collide

Automobiles driven by Wm. McCoy and John Jeener collided at the corner of Cook and Pandora last night. Mr. McCoy was injured but others are reported to have escaped with a shaking up.

She was a stunning-looking creature, but unfortunately she had a cast in her eye. The movie director noticed this and felt compelled to turn down her application for the star part in his new film.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but I'm afraid the cast in your eye prevents me from using you."

"Nonsense!" she returned. "Give me the leading part and advertise the film as containing an all-star cast."

These Two Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ayer's Cliff, Quebec. — "I have been teaching for three years, and at the end of the year I always feel tired and have no appetite. I was awful sick each month, too, having pains in my back until sometimes I was obliged to stop working. A friend recommended Lydia E. Now I take six bottles every year and recommend it to others." — DONALDA FANTEUX, Ayer's Cliff, Quebec.

I was teaching school and often for some hours I would be unable to attend to my work. Through an advertisement in the papers I knew of Lydia E. of the festival committee, in making the award, extended hearty congratulations to the winner, who had secured the almost unexampled total of 198 marks. An ovation was given the young violinist as she received her prize.

Other finalists who earned their awards in competition before the evening audience were Evelyn Valiant, winner of class 12, for vocal solo for soprano under nineteen years, thus securing the Frederic King silver medal; Thomas Rhodes, winner of the Holdcroft gold medal by ranking first in the baritone vocal solo competition, Class 30; the First United Church Ladies' Trio, which took first honors in the ladies' trio event Class 23; and Mary Hallisey, Vancouver, who won the Dr F. W. Maunsell gold medal by taking first prize in the open violin class, Class 45. Although her marks (165) gave her fair title to first prize, her position was undisputed at the last moment, the only other entry, Minford Stuckey, of Seattle, failing to put in an appearance.

Other items on the evening programme were the recitations by Mr. George Hallett, winner of the men's open elocution competition, Class 61, decided at the afternoon session; and the singing by First United Church "C" quartette of "The Ash Grove," the competition piece with which they earlier in the day won the Cymrodorion Society medal.

DAY SESSIONS

In the day-time sessions greatest interest undoubtedly centred in the public schools intermediate contest at the First United Church, won by the Oaklands School, also winner in the primary class event. At the First Baptist Church auditorium a big audience assembled, interest centring chiefly in the baritone solo contest which was decided in the finals of the evening, already noted above.

Dr. Fricker stepped still further into favor by the delightful spirit which marked the delivery of his adjudications last evening, his criticisms being as helpful as they were searchingly analytical. No baritone soloist, for instance, could fail to be greatly helped for a future occasion by his vivid portrayal of an old Canterbury watchman, given as explanation of the meaning of Cecil Forsyth's "The Bellman," which was the baritone competition piece at the Festival.

The inspector passed the infant class as they were singing:

I want to be an angel
And with the angels stand,
A crown upon my forehead,
A harp within my hand.

"Beautiful," said the inspector, deeply moved. "And does every little girl and boy here want to be an angel?"

One little girl raised her hand and replied:

"I don't. I'd rather be a monkey and swing by my tail."

Two men were arguing about a point in Scripture. A third interrupted:

"Do you know, I never can remember things in the Bible. I always thought Sodom and Gomorrah were man and wife."

One of the men laughed, but the other said:

"Well, weren't they? They were both giants, anyway."

HOUSE APPROVES HEALTH TREATY

International Sanitary Convention Submitted to Ottawa Parliament and Debated

OTTAWA, April 12.—A resolution calling for the approval of the international sanitary convention signed at Paris on behalf of Canada last June, was introduced in the House today by Premier King, who explained that the agreement covered international defence measures against communicable diseases. After lengthy debate the resolution carried.

C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence, said that from what he had read of the convention it would commit Canada to large public expenditures. He also asked why the treaty was brought to Parliament. In Great Britain, when treaties were signed in the name of His Majesty, they became part of the law of the country at once.

Premier King replied that in a protocol to the convention, Canada had reserved the right to determine the extent of participation in the measures set out. As to the ratification by Parliament, this was in accordance with a policy adopted by the present Government respecting treaties.

VANCOUVER POLICE COMMISSION VOTES FOR INQUIRY BY CITY COUNCIL

Would Have Limited Investigation Undertaken by Appointee of Friendly Majority

VANCOUVER, April 12.—Plans for a sweeping investigation into all allegations of irregularities within the police department were approved by the police commission at a special meeting at 10 a.m., when a proposal of Mayor Louis D. Taylor, chairman, that an inquiry be held under the provisions of the city charter, was adopted by the board.

The City Council, at a special meeting, will be asked to pass a resolution providing for the appointment of a barrister-at-law to conduct the inquiry and another lawyer to assist in the investigation.

MR. FLETCHER'S POSITION

"I opposed the appointment of a commission by the City Council to investigate the police situation because of the limited power which such an inquiry would have in comparison with a royal commission.

"I claim that the police commission itself is as much in need of investigation as the police department. A royal commission would have power to investigate the action of the police commissioners, but a board appointed by the City Council will not." So stated Police Commissioner T. W. Fletcher after consultation with his legal adviser following the meeting of the police commission this morning.

Four Music Examiners Will Come to Province

Associated Board of Royal Academy of Music and Royal College Announces Plans for Annual Competitions

Five examiners are being sent from England to Canada to conduct the examinations of the Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Music this Summer. The work in British Columbia will probably be done by the following four examiners: Mr. Roy Ellett, Mr. A. Brian Nash, Mr. Russell Elliott Chester and Mr. Arthur Hinton.

Mr. Arthur Hinton is the only one who has examined in British Columbia before, and there will be many musical people who will be glad to meet him again.

The Spring written examinations will be held on May 5 next, and the practical during the month of June, possibly running into July.

Accompanying are brief biographical sketches of the examiners:

MR. ELLETT

Mr. Roy Ellett in 1915, when seventeen years of age, gained the Hull Literary and Philosophical Society's open scholarship for pianoforte playing at the East Riding College of Music, and also the Mark Hambourg diploma. In the same year he gave his first public recital in Hull.

After two years' war service he entered the Royal Academy of Music where he continued his studies under the late Mr. Cuthbert Whitemore, and where he is now one of the professors on the teaching staff.

Mr. Ellett has given several recitals in London and also has undertaken two lengthy concert tours abroad, one in the Near East with Maud Allan and Leo and Mischel Cherniavsky, and the other with Dame Clara Butt and Mr. Kennerley Rumford on their farewell tour of Australasia.

MR. NASH

Mr. Brian Nash was born in Darjeeling, India. His natural musical talent, which he probably inherited from his mother, was shown at an early age, but after an education in France, Holland and Germany, he intended to study for a medical career and entered King's College Hospital. While in his first year there, however, he entered for and was successful in gaining one of the open scholarships offered by the Royal Academy of Music. He thereupon entered the academy and studied under Mr. Tobias Matthay and Mr. Frederick Corder, gaining many prizes and exhibitions. In 1911 he was appointed a sub-professor, and in 1912 gained the prize for the best teaching. In 1913 he gained the Macfarren Gold Medal for pianoforte playing and the following year was made an associate of the Royal Academy of Music.

At the outbreak of the war, Mr. Nash joined the forces and served throughout the war on the Western Front, and afterwards with the Army of Occupation at Cologne and in London as education officer to the 2nd Battalion, Coldstream Guards.

In 1923, however, he resigned his commission in order to return to his musical work, and was appointed profesor at the Tobias Matthay Pianoforte School.

In 1924, having been appointed an examiner to the Associated Board, he undertook a tour to Australia, lasting some nine months.

In January, 1925, he was appointed professor, examiner and lecturer at the Royal Academy of Music, London. In 1926 he was invited to conduct examinations in South Africa for the university, Pretoria. Since his return he has been actively engaged fuifilling the duties entailed by the appointments mentioned above.

MR. CHESTER

Mr. Russell Elliott Chester, B.A., Lond., A.R.A.M., was born in Winnipeg, Canada. He received his musical education in Brussels, and won the first prize of the Brussels Conservatoire in 1914. He continued his studies at the Royal Academy of Music, London, where he became first sub-professor in 1918, obtaining several prizes for composition and elocution, and later, in 1926, was appointed one of the professors of pianoforte.

Amongst other appointments held by Mr. Chester is that of lecturer in appreciation of music for the London County Council, and he is also honorary secretary of the Music Teachers' Association.

MR. HINTON

Mr. Arthur Hinton, F.R.A.M., was born at Beckenham, Kent, and educated at Shrewsbury School. Though originally destined for a business life he took up music as his career and entered the Royal Academy of Music, where he studied under M. Prosper Sainton and M. Emile Sauret (violin), Mr. F. W. Davenport (composition) and Mr. Septimus Webbe (piano). He then went to Munich for further study under the late Professor Rheinberger, proceeding from there to Vienna and Rome.

Mr. Hinton is now one of the professors at the Royal Academy of Music and a member of the board of studies in music at the University of London.

Amongst his published works are the opera, "Tamara;" the orchestral fantasia, "The Triumph of Caesar," a second symphony in C minor, which was first performed at one of the concerts at the Royal College of Music under the direction of the late Sir Charles Villiers Stanford; the dramatic scene from Shelley's "Epipsychidion" for tenor solo and orchestra, the "Chant des Vagues" for violoncello and orchestra, the sonata and suite for piano and violin (dedicated to and played for the first time by Emile Sauret, the famous French violinist), the pianoforte trio in D minor and the scherzo for the same instruments, but probably his best known works are his concerto for piano and orchestra in D minor, introduced by his wife, Madame Katharine Goodson, and quintette in G minor, produced in London by the Wessely Quartette.

Mr. Hinton has written numerous songs, including the two cycles, "White Roses" and "Butterflies."

BARKER REGAINS B.C. CHESS HONORS

Winner Is Champion of Province for Third Time, Having Won Title in 1924 and 1926

The contest for the British Columbia chess championship terminated yesterday after the conclusion of the adjourned games, Waddy vs. Barker and Enke vs. Barker, the final scores being, Barker 2 1-2 points, Enke 2, and Waddy 1 1-2, the last-named having accepted a draw offered by the champion, who was heartily congratulated by his fellow clubmates, the chess editor of The Colonist being the first to express his high opinion of the play in general and that of the winner in particular.

The Victoria club was anxious to secure the best Vancouver talent available and a cordial invitation was extended hoping they would return the visit of Messrs. Barker and Enke in 1925 and 1927.

The title has now been won three times by Mr. Barker, viz., in 1924, 1926, and 1928.

In playing over the Barker win from Enke, a most difficult end game, the bishops being of opposite colors, we were struck with the forcible exploitation of the fine nuances in his favor, worthy of a master. The Colonist will submit the ending to its readers next Sunday.

He hath seated himself on the American fly paper and all the flies walt in vain to get thereon!"

WHEN "HUSKY" COMES HEALTH CANNOT BE VERY FAR BEHIND

Happiness and Relief From System Disorders Follow Use of Great Medicine as Summer Follows Spring or as May Flowers Follow April Showers

HEALTH FOUND IN USE OF "HUSKY"

Calgary Woman Says Medicine Is Wonderful—Restored Her Energy and Made Her Feel Hundred Per Cent Better

MISS LILLIAN CLANCY

That the use of "Husky," that great medicine of herbs and iron, will bring health to the tired and rundown is the contention of thousands of enthusiastic people in every part of Canada who have actually tried this wonderful preparation and have proven to their own satisfaction that it will restore lost pep and energy.

Miss Lillian Clancy, of 1119 Third Street East, Calgary, Alberta, is one young lady who regained her health and energy through the use of "Husky," and her recommendation of this medicine is filled with enthusiasm for "Husky." Miss Clancy insists that "Husky" made her feel 100 per cent better all the way around and restored her vitality that had been sadly depleted by tired and nervous conditions.

Miss Clancy says: "I can give 'Husky' my unqualified endorsement as a great medicine for sick, tired and rundown people, for it has made me feel 100 per cent better than I did before I began to use it. I was so nervous that I could not sleep at night. I would have headaches so bad that I could hardly bear the pain I didn't know what to do, as nothing I tried brought me any relief.

"Then 'Husky' was recommended to me and I started to use it. I soon began to feel a lot better, but I continued with the treatment. Now you would never believe that I had been so sick. I feel fine in every way and the headaches are all gone. I eat heartily and sleep at night like a tired schoolgirl."

Thousands in Canada Find Greatest Thrill in Health That Springs From Wonderful Preparation

Just as Spring blends quietly and unassumingly into Summer without a perceptible change, just so does Health follow closely on the heels of "Husky," the marvel medicine, coming quickly and easily to the sufferer who is wise enough to give "Husky" a chance to bring him relief. With no show or sound of trumpets, "Husky" goes to work on the system of the user, clears up the tired sluggish organs, cleans up the entire system and aids Nature in restoring the natural functions of the vital organs, thus automatically insuring health.

Health, the greatest beon of man, cannot be had unless the system is in perfect shape. A sluggish liver, overworked kidneys, constipated boweis or a disordered stomach will throw the entire system into disorder and will cause ill-health and unhappiness.

Ailments caused by such disorders, such as constipation, dyspepsia, heartburn, indigestion, gas on stomach, bloating of the stomach, weakness, pains in back and legs, rheumatic pains, belching and catarrhal affections, may all be cleared up and relieved through the regular use of "Husky." It helps Nature put the organs to working properly and quickly and efficiently restores normal conditions.

Made of the pure and rare herbs of Nature, combined with soluble iron for strength, "Husky" is the ideal remedy for healthy functioning of the body, and the testimony of hundreds of thousands of people shows that it serves its purpose admirably.

Every section of Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, has been the scene of marvelous restorations of health and happiness. Stomach troubles have been relieved, constipation eliminated, livers made to do their work and kidneys helped to function normally, all through the use of "Husky." Never before has any medicine been so widely acclaimed or so fulsomely praised as has this premier of medicines.

There's health in "Husky," and where health is, there will be found happiness also. There can be no contentment or peace when the organs are in bad condition and overworked. It is the height of folly to attempt normal play and work when the vital organs are not working normally. The digestive system must be in accord with the rest of the body to achieve healthful results.

Do not wait for further proof from others. Go today to the McFarlane Drug co. and try for yourself this great medicine. Give yourself a chance to reach health through the aid of "Husky."

CARPENTER NOW IN REAL HEALTH

Was in Weakened Condition and Suffered With Heartburn and Kidney Troubles But "Husky" Brought Him Health

MR. A. FOISY

Another instance of the health-giving qualities of "Husky," that great medicine, is found in the case of Mr. A. Foisy, of 566 Montcalm Street, Montreal, who was brought back to health again by the aid of this medicine. Thousands of others in every section of Canada have enjoyed similar gratifying experiences and praise of "Husky" is heard on every hand.

Mr. Foisy, who is a well known Montreal carpenter, had suffered for a long time with his kidneys and stomach, and he finally got so bad that he could hardly do his work. Stomach trouble was his principal ailment and it was accompanied by other disorders of the digestive organs. He finally tried "Husky" for relief and he gained such good health that he went on with the treatment and is now in his old health again.

Mr. Foisy says: "I had suffered for years with stomach trouble and heartburn. Then my kidneys got out of order, and I was feeling so weak and rundown that I could hardly do my work. My appetite was bad and I was too nervous to sleep.

"Now that is all changed, for I finally found 'Husky.' At the end of my second bottle of this medicine I noticed an immense difference in health, and I continued the treatment. I am now finishing my sixth bottle and am enjoying real health once more, again having energy to do my work properly.

"I have nothing but praise for 'Husky,' which I consider a great medicine, for I have been retored to health and I recommend it to everyone who is suffering as I did."

RUMORS OF BIG DEAL.

Certain of the leading capitalists of London, who of course control almost unlimited amounts of money, are said to have offered a very high price for a controlling interest in the British Columbia Electric Railway Company. This company is, of course, worth a great deal of money as a going concern. Its affairs have been conducted with judgment probably unsurpassed in similar institutions in any part of the world. It has acquired property of great value and water powers of even greater potential value, which it is developing against the demands of the future in populous and rapidly growing districts, so that we can imagine that it is not particularly desirous of disposing of its property.

But it is not the apparently undoubted fact that Lord Rothermere and his wealthy associates have made an offer for a controlling interest in the B.C.E.R. Co. that is interesting. It is the suggestion that there is something of greater magnitude behind the offer that captures the imagination. Very shortly an enterprise that will add immensely to the water power of the company will be completed, and it is said that the London capitalists are about to make an offer to the Provincial Government for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, which they will couple with the operating lines of the B.C.E.R. Co. and make a part of the already comprehensive system which provides transportation, power and light for the city of Vancouver, the districts round about and for the fertile and productive Fraser Valley. It is further said that if the purposes of the capitalists are fulfilled, the potentialities of the district served by the Pacific Great Eastern Railway are almost equal to those of the Fraser Valley and that the consummation of the deal will mean a tremendous addition to the population and wealth of the southern part of British Columbia.

Members of the Provincial Government have frequently announced that they hoped within a very short time to make some definite statement about the sale of the railway which has been a source of great anxiety to them. Should British capital opportunely relieve them of that load, we shall have news of a general election before the passage of many days.

TECHNICAL SCHOOL ISSUE.

The Colonist appears to have drawn upon its head the consuming wrath of Mr. J. L. Beckwith. This leading member of the Victoria School Board is incensed because the Technical School By-Law failed to secure the endorsement of the ratepayers, and he attributes its defeat to the opposition of The Colonist newspaper—an opposition that is said to have been unfair, dishonest and unjust to the members of the School Board. If the charges are true, we do not wonder at the indignation expressed by Mr. Beckwith. Of course the charges are not true; and we do not think our accuser intends that they should be taken too seriously.

There is one weakness in the character of Mr. Beckwith, and that weakness militates against his success as a public man. He takes himself too seriously. He takes too seriously any opposition to undertakings which meet with his personal approval. As a member of the school board he has been associated with professional educationists of advanced views, and those advanced views he has adopted and made his own. In that respect he differs but little from other representatives on school boards. Professional educationists of advanced views convert them all in course of time. Which is all very well from the point of view of the teachers' profession; it is not so well from the point of view of the taxpayer.

Educational faddists are just like all other persons whose vision is concentrated upon one point. When they want a thing badly they want it very badly, and they never stop to consider the cost of getting it. The cost is none of their business.

Now it happens that in this case the people who have to pay have been considering the growing complexity and the increasing cost of education and asking themselves certain questions: Whether the establishment of a technical school would be justified by results, whether there is any limit to the cost of education and whether a time ever will come when responsible authorities will decide that the cost of education shall be reduced.

If a technical school is necessary to complete our educational equipment and not merely another frill added to the many costly devices which are pleasing to the fancy of educational speculators, we shall have a technical school in Victoria in due time; but we do not think the attitude of the ratepayers will be immediately changed by the somewhat intemperate utterances of Trustee Beckwith. The people who will have to meet the cost of the new educational institution must be convinced that a technical school is absolutely necessary and that it will result in a readjustment of the grievous burden of taxation.

MAYOR THOMPSON'S DOWNFALL

The manner in which elections are conducted in Chicago is quite as amazing as the character of the men elected to office. The conditions which prevailed in the city during the recent attempt to ascertain the popular will doubtless are the conditions Mayor Thompson desired to see perpetuated and whose perpetuation he considered menaced by the system of education inaugurated under the administration of Mr. McAndrew, who was deposed on the charge of being an agent of King George of England. The British system of administration may not be perfect, but it does inculcate the principle that every public act, including the important act of conducting elections to ascertain the will of the people, shall be done decently and in order. The chances are that King George of England was not even aware of the existence of such a peculiar public man as Mayor Thompson until his name was dragged into the international limelight by the great champion of Americanism.

Mayor Thompson succeeded in making himself an international celebrity. He made a strong appeal to the anti-British sentiments of his constituents in the populous State of Illinois! Unfortunately for his political aspirations, which included the exalted office of President of the United States, Mayor Thompson by his extreme views made himself a laughing-stock throughout the United States as well as throughout the whole English-speaking part of the world. The more reputable American newspapers depicted him as a political buffoon. The masses of the American people refused to consider him seriously and the masses of the electors of the State of Illinois have endorsed the views of the masses of the people of the United States. Mr. Thompson and all his supporters have been rejected at the polls. But Mr. Thompson has not yet been ejected from office, and there may be interesting proceedings before his regime is brought to a dishonored end.

The ultimate result of the Illinois elections is not of any particular consequence to the people of Canada or the people of Great Britain, but the effect of the elections is a matter of fundamental importance to all who desire peaceful and pleasant relations between people of the English-speaking race. The significance of the discomfiture of Mayor Thompson is that the day is past when elections in the United States may be won by the time-dishonored custom of "twisting the tail of the Lion." Perhaps it is fortunate that what may be the last attempt to interject the phantom of British influence into the public affairs of the republic was made by so clumsy and crude a public man as the Mayor of Chicago. There may still be some politicians of the baser sort in the United States, and the lesson just administered doubtless will not be without its effect upon them.

The position of the two radicals on the aldermanic board reminds us of a statement issued a few weeks ago by one of the members of the Labor Government of Great Britain, in fact by one of the most brilliant of the members of that Government. The honorable gentleman declared that one of the most disquieting features of the political situation in Great Britain was the number of strong and capable men who constantly clamored and intrigued for Government positions. The demand for public office was so constant and persistent that the Minister said he was convinced a large majority of the people of the country had but one ambition in life, and that was to live upon the industry of their fellow-men.

What has become of the resolution of the Legislature of British Columbia favoring the secession of the Alaska Panhandle to Canada? So far it has not been considered as a matter of practical politics by either Ottawa or Washington. There is no indication that negotiations are under way through the instrumentality of Canada's Minister at the American capital. It is possible, however, that it has been added to the roll of issues which are now the subject of secret diplomacy.

The peculiar people of England, although they are fond of sports of all kinds and spend a considerable amount of their time in play, do not neglect their business or their work. They probably are the happiest people in the world, and they are not the least prosperous people in the world. When an old-established industry begins to decline and inevitably must fail, a new industry is established in its stead, and thus the balance is maintained.

The Good Old Days

Ill-Bred Laughter

Having mentioned laughing, I must particularly warn you against it, and I could heartily wish that you may often be seen to smile, but never heard to laugh, while you live. Frequent and loud laughter is the characteristic of folly and ill manners; it is the manner in which the mob express their silly joy at silly things, and they call it being merry. In my mind there is nothing so illiberal and so ill-bred as audible laughter.—Lord Chesterfield's Letters to His Son, 1748.

OBSTACLES TO PROGRESS

Sir,—I note in your issue of April 11 a letter by Mr. Robinson, entitled, "Food Prices." If Mr. Robinson has been reading The Colonist carefully he would have got full information as to the high prices of living from my letter published in The Colonist, entitled, "Too Much Organization."

We in Victoria have women's councils galore; they all give columns of good advice on how to be good and get to Heaven, but hardly one concern themselves about making life easier for their sisters on earth.

The high price of practically all our produce is caused by trusts and combines, formed against the people, and aided by the very people that we are paying to protect us.

The liquor combine is run by the Government. The same Government is responsible for the high price of the apples that Mr. Robinson complains of. It is now a crime to sell cheap vegetables, and when we were threatened with cheap butter, how quickly the Government took the matter up to stop it—and the strangest thing of all is that there is not a women's organization in British Columbia that has the nerve to attempt to right a wrong that strikes at the very vitals of the home.

As regards the attitude of our public organizations, we in Victoria are dependent largely on the tourist traffic to provide business for our merchants. Our Winter visitors are mostly people of moderate incomes who cannot afford to go to California and other points with better climates. The hotels cater to this class of business largely, and make rates to suit a modest purse. Their efforts have been frustrated by the curse of British Columbia, "Too much legislation."

Some years ago when the strong men of our country went overseas, our legislators, to please a certain minority, put over prohibition, and with only a few months' notice and without a cent compensation the hotel men lost the most profitable part of their business. In addition to this they are up against the Marketing Act, the Minimum Wage Act and a fifty-five per cent increase in the price of railway service, which is a great factor in suppressing travel. With all these cards stacked against them the hotel people are expected to subscribe to a hundred and one projects to promote the prosperity and well-being of their city, among them being the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade, and the kindred organizations that presumably work together for the good of the city. These institutions, like the women's organizations, never seem to get down to earth on any practical subject, such as affect the vital interest of the community.

Most of us remember the visit of Sir H. Thornton (the manager of our Canadian National Railways), to Victoria last Summer. The different organizations received him with a banquet, the presidents and others made speeches and Sir Henry Thornton, an astute politician, made the best speech of all. Amid great cheers he spoke about the probability of increasing our trade with the Orient (incidentally, how does this fit in with Oriental exclusion?) and the glorious future of Canada, if we only played his game and stood up for his policy. If I remember rightly, not a member reminded him that the last few years passenger and express rates had raised fifty-five per cent, to the great undoing of our tourist business. After Sir Henry Thornton left, no doubt he put his tongue in his cheek and patted himself on the back for having once more "put over the bunk," as the Americans say.

As I said before, the very life of Victoria is visitors with money, and trying to keep them here after they come. Any hotel keeper can tell you of hundreds of prospective visitors that come here and leave, because of the enormous cost of practically all the necessities of life. In this regard it is useless to argue about the rights and wrongs of capitalism. We must confine ourselves to the bare fact that any capitalist has the right to spend his income where he likes, and if he cannot get enough for his money here, he goes elsewhere. He refuses to buck marketing laws and food combines, and in addition the parental legislation that Mr. Clearihue and his government so pride themselves upon. It is quite apparent that if they were sincere about legislating for the workers, they would investigate the price of bread. They have spent thousands of dollars in legal fees for the purpose of getting "better freight rates." They have announced with a tremendous shout that they have got a great cut in the rates on wheat, and yet we in the home of wheat are paying twice as much for bread as Great Britain, thousands of miles away.

The so-called problem of the high cost of living, Mr. Robinson, is a Government pandering to minorities for votes—and an Opposition afraid to call them.

BENEFITS OF LOW TAXES

Sir,—Bearing on civic affairs, can you please find space for the following, re City of Lynn, Mass., copied from Cambridge Tribune, March 31, 1928.

Lynn in 1920 had a population of 99,148.

JOHN DEAN.
572 Head Street, Esquimalt, B.C., April 12, 1928.

Lower taxes will attract new industries, said Mayor Bauer, of Lynn, in a recent address, and he pointed out that during the past three years fifty-one new industries have located in Lynn, employing 4,000 additional people, and having a weekly payroll of $150,000.

What we need, said one in commenting upon Mayor Bauer, is more rich men to run for office, because they are independent. So far as money goes, they don't care whether they keep their position or not, so they have no political debts to pay.

"THE COLONIST IN NEW YORK"

The Colonist is delivered to the principal New York hotels, on order only, by the Long Acre Newspaper Delivery. Order may be given to the Mail Clerk of your hotel or telephoned to Longacre, 4649.

But all cities do not have rich men who are willing to serve. All can find, however, men who do not have political debts to pay. Because a city manager, from outside the city, does not have a large number of friends with outstretched palms into which he must place a token of his appreciation, is a reason of his success.

To quote Mayor Bauer again, municipal governments have been operated as political units instead of as a business. Cities name men to serve in public office that business men would not employ in their private enterprises a week, and sometimes they elect men to office whom business men would pay $25 a week to keep away from their establishments.

Mayor Bauer has shown what can be done by business methods. Cities which have city manager government have the same story to tell, as a rule. The day of political rule is reaching its end, and the dawn of business methods is breaking. The people are demanding good government, and the tendency will be not be retrogression from the city manager form but an advance to better and better government.

MINIMUM WAGE

Sir,—Having been waiting to see what effect the minimum wage would have on the catering industry in Victoria, I see no difference, only maybe it has added a few more to the ever growing unemployment list and raised the wage of the Chinamen. It has not displaced any Chinamen as it was thought it would do. Also regarding the minimum wage for camp cooks in small camps, it has been the means of men being let out and women took on at half the wage and in many cases is not being exposed at all. As far as I can see it is a failure and should be wiped off the statute books. No one seems to want to enforce it. It is broken every day and instead of being a benefit it is a detriment to the male waiter as a whole.

W. HARRISON.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

Sir,—Will you kindly permit me to reply to the letter which appeared in your columns April 10 re cruelty to animals in the "Wild Beauty" picture which ran at the Columbia Theatre, April 5 to 7.

The cougar which the writer referred to in this picture did not jump on the horse's back; it was a dummy horse specially staged for that scene. The cougar was not killed either. A dummy cougar was tied around the horse's neck, showing just how wild animals attack domestic animals.

HIEROGLYPHICS.

Man's ancient writings, hidden through long years,
All undeciphered on the ageless stone,
Reveal their tales of triumphs and of tears
When once their long-lost, long-sought key is known.
Before our eyes the strange procession moves;
The hawk-faced gods, the goddess of the moon,
And Pharaohs come again, with hates and loves
That passed away, as ours will pass, too soon.
Man, too, like those scarred and timeless stones
Which, mocking, bear a record none may read
To find what gods the spirit there enthrones,
To glimpse the purpose back of dream and deed.
Dim hieroglyphics! Yet would we try aright,
The key of Love would bare them to our sight.

Sir Edward Holt Dies

CLUBMEN GREET SEYMOUR HICKS

Rotarians Hear Humorous Address by Eminent English Actor—Club to Stage Cabaret

A right royal Rotary reception was tendered Mr. Seymour Hicks, eminent English actor, at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday in the Empress Hotel ballroom. Mr. Hicks proved a most entertaining speaker, and his amusing stories and anecdotes kept his hearers in roars of laughter. He and his company had vastly appreciated the warmth of the greeting given them from end to end of the Dominion, and he considered it a great honor to be invited to address the Victoria Rotarians.

Mr. Harry Hardie, manager of the Seymour Hicks Company, was introduced to the gathering and given a hearty greeting.

Past President Percy B. Scurrah, who is chairman of the on-to-Seattle committee, urged members to register as soon as possible for the district Rotary conference, which will be held in Seattle from April 22 to 25. Forty-two local Rotarians and their wives had already registered, and there were ten or twelve yet uncertain. A formal invitation to attend the conclave was extended by Mr. Graham Morgan, a member of the Seattle Rotary Club.

Rotarian Robert R. Webb announced the holding of a rehearsal of the "H.M.S. Rotary," a stunt which the Victoria clubmen will stage at the convention luncheon in Seattle on April 23.

There will be no club luncheon next week, but the Rotary Club cabaret for members and their ladies will take place next Thursday night, April 19, in the Empress Hotel ballroom at 6:30 o'clock. Alderman James Adam told the meeting. This will be the first evening meeting held during the presidency of Mr. James H. Fletcher, and an excellent programme is being arranged.

Making Start On Base Camp for West Coast Road

The initial steps have been taken by the Department of Public Works on the construction of the long-delayed West Coast road, which will follow the road terminating now at Jordan River. The first work will consist in the establishment of a base camp beyond Jordan River.

The route that has been decided upon by the Government will not follow the coast line, as at first expected, but will be diverted at many points inland in an endeavor to get a better route for the maintenance of the road.

The clearing of the right-of-way will be followed by the erection of bridges that will cross the streams and the ravines, and make possible the transfer of the modern road machinery that is to be used in construction work.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of April 13, 1878)

From the East Coast—The steamer Maude arrived at 8 p.m. yesterday from the East Coast with the mails, six tons of hay, eight tons of oil, and the following passengers: Mr. and Mrs. Dunsmuir, Mr. and Mrs. Charley, Mrs. Barrie, Miss Bate, Miss A. Skinner, Miss Andrew, the Misses Dunsmuir, Messrs. O. A. Walkem, P. Moore, J. Gampon, A. Dick, J. Fry, W. Duncan, Capt. Jack and troops.

More Improvement—The frame buildings at the corner of Fort Street and Douglas Street are being removed to make room for a block of brick stores. The two-story frame building on Johnson Street, adjoining M. Rowland's new brick building, is being demolished. Its site will be occupied by a two-story brick building.

Politics!—Mr. A. J. Langley and Mr. J. H. Turner decline to be city candidates for the local House. Mr. J. A. Drummond will be a candidate. It is strongly rumored that Mr. J. H. Todd will also come forward.

A tourist was being driven through a picturesque glen in Scotland, and while his companions went into raptures over the wild, weird, awe-inspiring features of the place, he yawned over his cigar and newspaper. "Don't you like the glen, sir?" the driver asked, at a particularly striking spot. "Why," grunted the tourist, "I suppose it's all right, but I can't see any of the scenery for those wretched hills!"

Art in Canada

Professor E. S. Farr, of Victoria College, addressed the Victoria branch of the Canadian Authors' Association last evening on "Creative Art in Canada." His references were particularly to art in painting, with special allusion to the "Group of Seven," Varley, Harriss, Jackson, Macdonald, Lismer, Johnson and Carmichael. To illustrate his talk he showed a number of color prints of the pictures mentioned, some of these being rather astonishing examples of impressionism in painting. Impressionism was also used in some other branches of art, the lecturer averred, quoting Service's "Law of the Yukon" and Archibald Lampman's "Heat" as samples. Extracts were read from F. B. Housser's "A Canadian Art Movement" to support some of the opinions expressed.

Mr. Carmichael, the new president of the club, presided, and spoke briefly on the aims and objects of the association.

HOUSE ENTERED AND SEARCHED

PROWLER RANSACKS HOME AT 1040 PENDERGAST STREET EARLY IN MORNING

Thorough Search Fails to Reveal Money—Twenty-Five Dollars Hidden In Unlikely Place

The prowler who has entered several homes in both the Oak Bay Municipality and Victoria, apparently in search of money, entered another city home at 1040 Pendergast Street early yesterday morning.

Police report that the man made his entry into the house by raising a window at the back, reaching in his arm and unlocking the back door.

When the occupants of the house returned shortly before 2 o'clock in the morning they found all the rooms "topsy turvy." Drawers had been ransacked and the contents thrown on the floor. The china cabinet was searched for money that might have been deposited in any of the cups or butter dishes. Bed mattresses were turned up, pillows disturbed, desk opened and, in fact, every conceivable place where money might be concealed was looked into.

Nothing was taken, however. The burglar, apparently, was only in search of money, for he left behind some valuable jewelry and silver. Despite the thoroughness of his search, however, he passed up $25 that had been hidden away.

VANCOUVER GETS POLICE INQUIRY

City Council Votes for Investigation to Be Conducted Under Its Authority

VANCOUVER, April 12.—The City Council, at a special session late today, voted in favor of an inquiry into Vancouver police affairs. R. S. Lennie, barrister, was appointed to conduct the investigation, and A. H. McNeill, K.C., was appointed counsel to handle the presentation of evidence.

Action by the council followed the passing of a resolution by the Board of Police Commissioners this morning for a thorough investigation into alleged irregularities within the police department. A proposal by Mayor L. D. Taylor, chairman, that an inquiry be held under the provisions of the city charter, was adopted by the board.

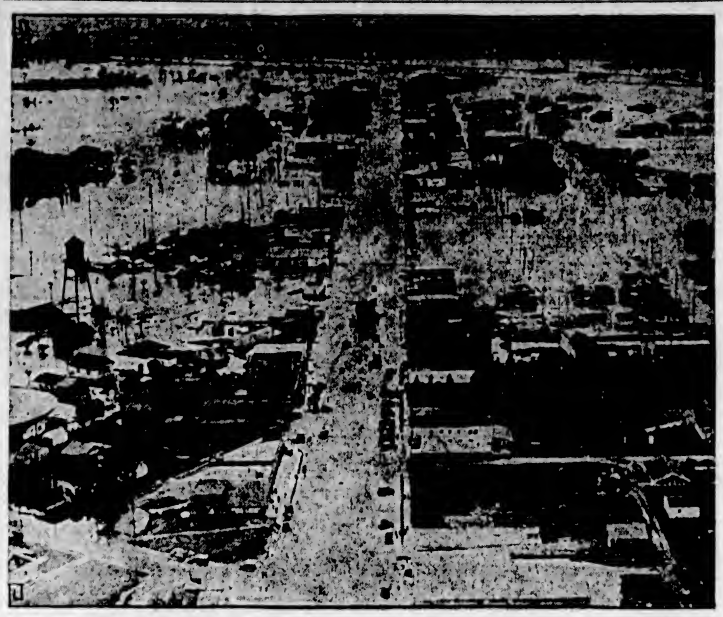
Immigrants Require Ten Special Trains

WINNIPEG, April 12.—Ten special trains operating over the Canadian National Railways, will be required to transport from Halifax, the passengers and settlers due to arrive here during this week-end. Eight steamers are scheduled to arrive, beginning Friday, and between then and Monday a total of 3,177 passengers will pass through the port.

Out of sympathy for two men who had been expelled from their homes following a drinking bout at a restaurant at Yo-kote-cho, Japan, Hana Terui, an eighteen-year-old waitress, joined in a triple suicide pact, and the three threw themselves under a railway train.

Products of forty-two countries were received into Paraguay last year.

Flood Creates Heavy Damage in Valley



MELTING snows and heavy rainstorms have been responsible for the above flood in the Sacramento Valley, California, which has caused much property damage. Sixty-three persons are missing and it is feared they may have been drowned. The picture was taken from an airplane and shows many rich farms and orchards inundated.

POLICE BOARD TO HOLD CONFERENCE

Will Discuss Traffic Matters With Council—Elimination of Tally-ho Stand at Wharf Mooted

Members of the City Police Commission will confer on Monday night with the City Council on the provisions of the Street Traffic Amendment By-Law. The commission, at its meeting yesterday, dealt with several letters from City Solicitor H. S. Pringle on street traffic matters, and decided to discuss a number of points with the City Council.

The commission received a communication from the J. A. Griffith Company, representing a number of merchants, who asked that provision be made in the by-law for the parking of automobiles on the south side of View Street, between Douglas and Government, at an angle of forty-five degrees, instead of the present rule of parking the cars on that side of the street parallel to the curb. The board instructed Chief of Police John Fry and Traffic Inspector J. T. Boulton to present written reports on the matter.

It was intimated that the commis-stand for tallyhos at the C.P.R. sion is thinking of eliminating the wharf.

The commission decided to inform Mr. W. H. Davies that he can put on a professional boxing tournament here in the near future if he desires. Mr. Davies had previously made application to hold such a tournament on March 31, but that request had been denied.

A Brave Champion of Purity

In the beautiful Lady Chapel of Liverpool Cathedral, the massive prototype of the cathedral now rising in our city, are two windows, in the jewelled beauty of which are pictured varied representatives of noble womanhood. Among these is Josephine Butler, who was born one hundred years ago today. She is depicted as typical of "all brave champions of purity," a title which rightly belongs to her for her efforts to protect wayward women, and more particularly for her leadership in the successful crusade to expunge the Contagious Diseases Act from English law books.

The Contagious Diseases Acts of 1864, 1866 and especially of 1869, made provision for what was virtually the licencing of prostitution in garrison towns. The contention of Mrs. Butler and her associates was that the acts were vitiated by four things at least: State tolerance of vice; double standard of conduct for men and women; the degradation and virtual slavery of the poor creatures who were "registered," and the increase instead of reduction of venereal disease. The struggle to educate public opinion to this position lasted sixteen years. It began with the famous protest published in The Daily News of New Year's Day, of 1870, signed by Mrs. Butler, Florence Nightingale, Harriet Martineau and many others, and ended in the revoking of the measure in 1886, although Parliament had passed a favoring resolution three years before.

HIGHLY ENDOWED

Josephine Butler was highly endowed for a commanding place in one of the greatest educative enterprises of last century. She had a maternal compassion for wayward girls. She opened a Home of Rest for dying outcasts in the city of Liverpool, having earlier taken them into her home, with the cordial co-operation at that time and throughout her career of her husband, Rev. George Butler, who later became Canon of Winchester. The death of her only daughter by a terrible accident intensified her passion to save the daughters of others. She was a cultured gentlewoman, very beautiful, and had an exceptional charm of manner. As to her gifts as a speaker The Westminster Review wrote a few months after her death in 1906 that "as an orator she touched the hearts of all by her eloquent language and by her earnestness." Further equipment for her task was found in her bravery, dash of leadership, her tenacity, and her indignation against wrong.

SUFFERS OSTRACISM

Like all social reformers Josephine Butler walked a rough path. She suffered ostracism of her own class and the criticism of the press. A member of Parliament said that she and her colleagues were "worse than the outcast women they defended." She faced mobs of brothel-keepers and had to alter her dress each day to avoid attacks by hoodlums. But the national conscience was gradually aroused. Influential parliamentarians and publicists like Sir James Stansfeld, Dr. Nevens and Mr. W. T. Stead, fought with her. In 1874, when the day was darkest, Mrs. Butler, with a general's instinct, carried the war into the enemies' camp and attacked regulation on the Continent of Europe. Of the International Congress which met in Geneva in 1877 she was the heart and soul.

Fifty years after this "brave champion of purity" set out on her crusade, the League of Nations justified her position in the report issued in February, 1927, on the Traffic in Women and Children. To quote Dame Fawcett in her recent life of Mrs. Butler: "The report is a corroboration of everything which Josephine Butler stood for from the middle of the nineteenth century onwards."

A writer in the July number of The Forum for 1913, passes upon this eulogy: "She possessed, perhaps, the most unique combination in moral reform of a lawyer's brain, a prophet's passion, a mystic certainty of divine guidance, an orator's power of appeal, a poet's recoil from the ugliness of evil, and a mother's tenderness enlarged by sorrow and sympathy to enfold a world of suffering and sin."

Because of the strong protest aroused by the effort at Kincardineshire, Scotland, to permit children of 10 years to do seasonal farm work such as "potato lifting," the plan was given up, and the minimum age for such employment remains at twelve years.

Board Seeks to End Destruction Of Police Signs

A REWARD of $25 will be given by the City Police Commission for the arrest and conviction of persons who deface or destroy parking standards in the city.

Commissioner W. E. Staneland, who suggested the offering of a reward, said that all the parking standards erected by the police in the city last year had been damaged and had to be replaced with new ones. He felt it was in the interests of the ratepayers that the Commissions do everything possible to put a stop to the practice of destroying police signs.

The Commission concurred with the proposal.

GLASGOW PAPER MAKERS COMPLAIN

EDINBURGH, April 12.—Scottish firms engaged in paper manufacture complain that there has been a large shrinkage in the quantity of paper shipped from Glasgow to Canada since the war and the Chamber of Commerce here is sending a letter on the matter to the Canadian Minister of Finance, Hon. J. A Robb. Scottish firms engaged in the paper trade allege that arrangements are in force between the Canadian paper makers and the Canadian dealers under which the latter have undertaken not to make purchases of paper outside of the Dominion, unless the kind wanted cannot be obtained in Canada.

Many Scottish jobbers are said to regard this as in the nature of restraint of trade, but hesitate to protest publicly for fear they might not be able to purchase Canadian paper when this is desired.

CHANGES URGED IN CURRICULUM

Teachers' Federation Advocates Thorough Revision of Studies Taken Up in Schools

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 12.—The Superannuation Act for British Columbia school teachers, which was drafted too late for consideration by the Legislature at its last session, will be redrafted and re-submitted at the next session. This was announced at the concluding meeting here today of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation.

T. W. Woodhead, principal of Kitsilano Public School, Vancouver, was elected president of the Federation.

Brought forward by the Vancouver Principals' Association, a motion was approved urging that "a thorough curriculum revision be undertaken with the object of eliminating material unsuitable to modern conditions, so that time may be found to give health education and other subjects their proper place."

It was also urged "that more emphasis be placed in all teacher-training courses on organized play including dancing, and singing games, formal physical exercises, remedial work and first aid to the wounded."

Geographical members of the federation executive include: For Northern Vancouver Island, A. H. Webb; Southern Vancouver Island, Ira Dilworth.

Public Confidence!

THE strength of a banking institution lies, not in brick and stone, but in public confidence. Seventy-two years ago The Bank of Toronto set for itself a standard of conservatism and adherence to sound banking principles which deserved confidence and has made it one of Canada's strongest financial institutions with assets of over $129,000,000.

The policy that developed this banking strength has built sound financial foundations for many of the Dominion's well-known industrial and agricultural enterprises. It is a good policy for your business.

APPLICANTS WANT ELK RIVER WATER

Major J. C. MacDonald, comptroller of water rights, yesterday heard applications from various persons with respect to water in the Elk River near Elko. Major MacDonald is reserving his decision in the matter. Three applicants appeared before him. These were: The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, the East Kootenay Power and Light Company, and by Mr. Charles D. McNabb. The Consolidated would use the Elk powers as part of its mining operations; the power company desires them for electrical development in connection with its business of selling power; while Mr. McNabb is interested in them for the development of power to operate a pulp and paper mill.

The powers sought would be developed in the deep canyon of the Elk River, near Elko, forming one of the most important potential water powers in the province.

C. McKAY ADMITS BEATING WOMAN

Mrs. Jennie Smith Tells Court How Man Attacked Her—Accused Remanded Until Today

A story of how she had been assaulted and beaten by Charles McKay, a longshoreman, was told in the city police court yesterday by Mrs. Jennie Smith when McKay was arraigned before Magistrate George Jay on a charge of beating her and occasioning actual bodily harm.

McKay, who was arrested by Chief of Police John Fry and Motorcycle Constable James Strong, pleaded guilty to the charge and elected summary trial. He said he didn't desire to secure the services of a lawyer.

Dr. A. G. Price said he had had little opportunity of examining Mrs. Jennie Smith when she came to see him after McKay had assaulted her. He advised her to go to the hospital, he stated.

Magistrate Jay adjourned the case until 10 o'clock this morning to permit further medical examination of the woman's condition.

FARM RESEARCH EMPIRE ISSUE

Conclusions of Importance in Report of Recent Agricultural Conference

Conclusions of importance to agriculture in all parts of the Empire are contained in the report, now published, of the recent Imperial Agricultural Research Conference. This conference, the first of its kind ever held in the history of the Empire, met in London and toured Great Britain during last Autumn and was attended by delegates from home, from all the Dominions and from almost all the Colonies. The conference was jointly organized by the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries and by the Empire Marketing Board.

"There has been no conference of an Imperial character which has been more harmonious, more definite in its objectives, more constructive in its deliberations and decisions, or more calculated in its results not only to contribute to the ever growing solidarity of the Empire, but materially to effect its future prosperity and happiness," stated Lord Bledisloe in a speech, quoted in the report.

Agriculture, the report points out, is by far the most important industry within the British Empire; even in England and Wales, with its urban conditions, the annual agricultural output reaches the figure of £225,000,000.

The Empire's agriculture is representative of a vast range of conditions and problems. It is practiced in some of the hottest and coldest and some of the wettest and driest and some of the most fertile and apparently some of the most barren parts of the world. As Lord Balfour has pointed out, there is no problem which affects any part of the world's agriculture which does not also affect the British Empire. Some of the agriculture goes back to an unexampled historical past, and in some the newest and least-touched surfaces of the globe are represented.

ALL FOR RESEARCH

As regards the improvement in this agriculture which is of so momentous importance for the Empire's prosperity, there is one matter on which all are agreed, and that is that one means to this end is the conduct of research into the many and varied problems which confront the agricultural community in all the Empire's territories, with a view to increasing output in amount or quality or cheapening its cost of production. Scientific investigation has already done wonderful things for the farmer. It has led to the use of artificial manures, to the production of farmyard manure without the intervention of the animal, to the breeding of varieties of cereals with improved cropping capacities and powers of resistance to disease and unfavorable climate conditions, to the employment of insects in the suppression of such of their kind as are injurious to crops and to the use of chemicals of various kinds in the killing of insects and fungi. It has enabled the fruit grower to select the type of fruit tree which he requires to suit any given set of conditions. Then, so far as the animal is concerned, it has provided laws which enable animals with desired characteristics to be bred. Through the elucidation of the physiology of animals, the composition of their carcass and the composition of foodstuffs, it has enabled economical rations to be compounded, giving, to the maximum, the results desired whether in production of meat or milk. It has placed powerful measures in the hands of veterinarians and practical farmers enabling them to combat diseases of livestock. In the benefits brought about on the engineering side agricultural conditions nowadays have only to be compared with those, for instance, recorded in the Bible to realize the distance that has been traveled. Machinery is in use on the farm for the cultivation of the soil, for hoeing, harvesting, threshing and many other processes. Very shortly the internal combustion engine may bring about a revolution in farming equal with that in road transport.

GOVERNMENTS ALERT

Great as are the services which science has rendered to agriculture, it is possible that the advantages so far conferred are as nothing to the gains which will accrue from the continuance and intensification of its aid. Governments all over the world are awakening to these possibilities. In the United Kingdom an organization for agricultural research has been created since the war at a cost, which, for instance, in comparison with that in the United States of America, is relatively small. The great Dominions of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the Irish Free State and the Indian Empire have also taken care to foster research in agriculture with noteworthy results, of which the expansion of the wheat area of Canada and the control of animal diseases in South Africa may be given as examples.

Three important schemes are recommended in the report; first, the setting up throughout the Empire of a chain of agricultural research stations; secondly, the setting up in the United Kingdom of clearing houses of information in agricultural science which shall serve the whole Empire, and thirdly, the recruitment, training and interchange of scientific workers in agriculture for the whole Empire.

On the first question, the chain of research stations, the conference laid it down that these should be established according to the needs for research on particular subjects rather than by consideration of geographical distribution, and that they should, in the main, confine themselves to long range and wide range research. Further, that unless an annual maintenance expenditure of the order of £20,000 per station were in sight, the establishment of any station must be delayed. Stations were discussed in, respectively, Queensland, Ceylon, East Africa, West Africa, and the Federated Malay States. A station for copra and sugar research was mentioned. A central station for irrigation problems was further proposed. Several of these projects are now actively being pursued.

CLEARING HOUSE

On the second question, that of Imperial clearing houses of information, two bureaux, namely, for entomology and mycology, are already in existence, and the conference recommended that further bureaux should be established in soil science, in animal nutrition, and in animal health: the first at the Rothamsted Experimental Station at Harpenden, in Hertfordshire; the second at the Rowett Research Institute in Aberdeen, and the third in London. The conference further recommended that Imperial clearing houses on a smaller scale, or correspondence centres, as they were termed, should be established for animal genetics, agricultural parasitology, plant genetics and fruit production: the first at Edinburgh University, the second at the London School of Hygiene, the third at Cambridge University, and the fourth at the East Malling Research Station, East Malling, Kent. It was considered that a sum of £20,000 per annum in all should suffice for these new Imperial clearing houses of information.

On the third subject, that of recruitment and training, the recommendations relate to the standards and requirements of a colonial agricultural service and recruitment for this service, including a scholarship scheme and the training of agricultural scholars under such scheme. Of equal interest are the recommendations regarding study leave and interchange of workers. It was considered that facilities for study leave are essential to the success of an agricultural service, that existing facilities were, in general, inadequate, and that provision to make study leave possible was an urgent necessity.

The conference held no fewer than eleven specialist committees on veterinary science, animal nutrition, animal genetics, dairying, soils and fertilizers, plant breeding, plant pathology, fruit, entomology, preservation and transport and agricultural economics, and many important recommendations relate to these specialist subjects.

Ballroom of Empress Hotel Transformed for Merrymaking Tonight — Musical Numbers Will Sustain Oriental Effect of Decorations

Cherry blossom time in Japan, the setting of many an Oriental idyll, has been reproduced in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel for the Victoria Press Club's Spring ball tonight. What lovelier surroundings could one want to satisfy the romantic spirit of April, the month when the poets sing and the children's skipping-rope expresses the tingling spirit in youthful feet? Dancing is in the air, and to the whisper of falling petals of apple and May-blossom tonight's merrymakers may mark the passing of the happy hours.

The ballroom will simulate a street in Tokio, the blossoming trees on either side, brilliant Oriental lanterns overhead, a temple-gate in the distance suggesting the forbidden area from which the merrymakers are debarred.

The music will be in keeping with the scene, and some special numbers will sustain the Oriental effect.

Of course, there will be supper. The original plan was to have an Oriental feast to fit the surroundings. But some experienced tourists who had tested the festival delicacies of old Japan informed the organizers that a collation of that character would require so long to serve that there would be no time left for dancing. So the idea was abandoned. Supper, therefore, will be after the best tradition of the Empress Hotel management.

Dancing will be kept up until a late hour, so that people attending the theatre or the Musical Festival will be able to come over to the Empress immediately afterwards and still enjoy the major part of the ball. There will be no other opportunity to enjoy a Press Club dance until next November.

In British Columbia Court of Appeal

An adjourned sitting of the Court of Appeal was held yesterday for the purpose of hearing an appeal from the judgment of a County Court judge in an assessment matter. There were present the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Martin, Mr. Justice Galliher and Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald.

Before proceeding with the case for which the court especially sat, two applications were disposed of. One was that of Noble and St. John vs. Bromilly, a question of a solicitor's bill of costs as taxed by the registrar. The appeal was argued at the January sittings in Victoria, but questions arose on the settlement of the order and one of the judges of this court referred it to the full bench, the solicitors disagreeing with the order as drawn. The court settled the order allowing the appeal, but disallowed the clause in the order giving liberty to apply to a judge of the Supreme Court for a fiat for a special allowance in the settlement of the action, on the ground that the applicant might have applied to the judge direct and that the gratuitous inclusion of the liberty to apply to the judge might inferentially be taken as a direction to the judge to grant the fiat.

The respondent submitted that the costs should be apportioned according to the issues raised in the appeal, but the court ruled that there was only one issue and that was the bill of costs in question.

This application was dismissed without costs.

Field vs. International Timber Company—Judgment was delivered in this appeal, argued at the January sittings. This case was one on the Minimum Wage Act, a cook's helper in a logging camp claiming that he came under the statute.

The appellant was engaged under written contract at $3.20 per diem; his duties actually began at 6 o'clock in the morning and ended at 7 o'clock in the evening; there was a period of idleness, although he remained on call, between breakfast and dinner and again between dinner and supper. No stipulations regarding those periods were made by the contract.

The respondent made alternative submissions, the one that appellant was a domestic servant, excepted from the said act by Section 13; the other that there was a tacit understanding or agreement that the actual hours worked should constitute a day.

The court was of opinion that the cook's helper came within the category of laborer in the logging camp, and allowed the appeal.

Mr. Heisterman now applied for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from this judgment, but he was told that he should do so at the next sittings of this court, the matter not being one that should come before a special sittings.

Quinn vs. Corporation of Salmon Arm—This was an assessment appeal from the judgment of a County Court judge who confirmed the decision of the Court of Revision as to the value of the land but lowered that on some of the improvements thereon.

The merits of the appeal were not reached, because Mr. Mayers took the preliminary objection that no appeal was open to the appellant in view of Subsection 7 of Section 228 of the Municipal Act, in that no point of law had been raised by the judge upon the hearing of the appeal from the Court of Revision. The court sustained the objection, but did not rule whether the point of law giving a right to appeal should be raised by the judge or counsel on the hearing. It should, however, in order to give the right, be specifically raised, so that the mind of the judge was challenged and brought to dealing with it.

The appeal was therefore quashed with costs. Mr. O'Halloran was for the appellant.

NEW MOTORCYCLE MAN APPOINTED

Mr. N. Gower Griffiths to Fill Vacancy in Patrol Caused by Death of Constable Wells

Mr. N. Gower Griffiths was appointed by the City Police Commission yesterday a probationary constable, and will fill the vacancy on the motorcycle patrol division caused through the death of Motorcycle Constable Albert E. Wells, on December 19, 1927.

There were a large number of applications for the position, and the various letters were considered by the Commission before the appointment was made.

The new motorcycle constable was educated at Clifton College, Bristol, Somerset, England, and has served with the Glamorganshire Special Constabulary. He has lived in British Columbia for two years, and comes highly recommended to the commission.

The commission received a communication from the Victoria Police Mutual Benefit Association, which asked that the City Council be requested, through the Police Commission, to place the members of the Victoria City Police under the British Columbia Superannuation Act, such to take effect on April 1, 1928, and that amounts deducted from the members' monthly cheques for superannuation purposes prior to this date, be refunded. The Commission decided to lay the letter on the table.

Constable John Blackstock was promoted from a third-class constable to the rank of second-class constable, at a monthly salary of $125, to take effect on May 1, 1928.

A very severe woman of the "uncoguid" type encountered a man who, to put it very mildly, had taken more liquor than was good for him.

VANCOUVER ASSIZES

VANCOUVER, April 12.—Walter Sleeden, B.C.E.R. motorman, was acquitted of a charge of manslaughter by a jury in assize court here this afternoon, after fourteen minutes' deliberation. The charge arose as the result of the death of Mrs. Amelia Fox, October 27 last, from injuries received when the auto in which she was riding with her daughter and husband was struck by a street car at the corner of Broadway and Laurel Street. Sleeden was in charge of the car at the time.

Clara Jessop, nurse, was found guilty of performing an illegal operation this morning by a jury, and was remanded for sentence.

When the court resumes tomorrow morning, the charge of manslaughter against Frederick Denyer will be heard. The accused is a bus driver, and the indictment under which he appears charges him with responsibility for the death February 24 of James McMillan.

The grand jury today returned a true bill in the case of Frank Harrison, charged with manslaughter as the result of an automobile accident January 28, when Jeremiah McCreagh was killed.

World-Famous Stories

THE SCULPTOR OF BRUGES

By MRS. CRAIK

(Mrs. Dinah Maria Craik, 1826-1887, was a British novelist. Under her maiden name of Miss Mulock she wrote the well-known novel, "John Halifax, Gentleman.")

Andrea, a sculptor of Bruges, in the Netherlands, was at the middle of the sixteenth century famous for his carvings in wood. He had just finished his latest work—a group of angels, carved in wood, to adorn the church of Bruges.

When the townspeople gathered around to view the work, an incident occurred which all were to remember for a long time. A rival wood sculptor, Melchior Kunst by name, insisted that Andrea had copied the group of angels from him. The charge was unjust, as everyone knew, but before anyone could stop him Melchoir had raised a hatchet he had concealed on him and spoiled the fragile wood sculpture.

The rage of Andrea was great. He flung himself upon Melchoir, but their friends separated them. Andrea threatened revenge—then his usual calm returned, for Andrea was not a violent man.

It was late in the evening when Andrea returned home. He walked along by the side of the dark and gloomy canal, which the setting light of the young moon only made more solemn and more fearful. Thick ivy-hung walls, even in the daytime, cast a heavy shadow on the water, and now it looked like some dark abyss, which no man could fathom. Here and there some pale solitary ray of moonlight pierced through the branches of the acacias that overhung the opposite eside, seeming like a bright arrow flashing through the darkness.

Andrea's heart was heavy. His triumph had ended in pain; disappointment not only at the injury done to his work, but at the unjust accusation of Melchoir Kunst. Andrea knew how ready are the suspicions of the world when once aroused, and he fancied that already cold and doubtful eyes examined his group with less favor than heretofore. And besides, the sudden burst of anger to which he had been induced, left an exhaustion, both bodily and mental, as is usually the case with men of Andrea's gentle and not easily aroused temperament.

The sculptor walked on quickly amidst the gathering darkness, for the moon had now set. He fancied now and then that he heard stealthy footsteps behind him, and perhaps this made him unconsciously urge his pace. Andrea was no coward, but it was a lonely place by the waterside, and he was unarmed.

Still, as the footsteps approached no nearer, he reproached himself for yielding to the delusion of an imagination heated by the events of the day. All at once he heard distinctly a plunge in the water of some heavy body. His first idea was that some unfortunate had ended his life and his miseries; but the sound was so distant that he was uncertain. He retraced his steps, but there was nothing to justify his previous thought. The canal flowed on, silent and dark as before; not a struggle, not a groan, not a cry rose up from its gloomy depths. It could have been only a heavy stone which had fallen from the old wall into the waters beneath. Andrea felt sure of this, and went on his way until he reached his home—a home where, since he left, danger and anxiety had entered.

Three days after this, two armed officers of justice made their appearance in the dwelling of the sculptor of Bruges. They came to take prisoner the master of the house, accused of the crime of murder.

From the day of the contest in sculpture Melchoir Kunst had never been seen until that morning, when his lifeless body had floated up from the bed of the canal. Then someone remembered that on the night of their quarrel Andrea had been seen to pass by the way that led along the canal, and that not long after Melchoir had followed. Another man, who lived near, had heard a plunge in the water, but thought it only his own dog, who often at night swam across the canal. A third also had met Andrea beside the canal, but had seen no other person. This was sufficient evidence to convict the sculptor of Bruges.

The officers came to find Andrea mourning the death of his wife in childbirth. He protested that no man with his misfortune could have planned and committed murder. But he was arrested all the same, and only his beloved daughter, Gertrude, a beautiful child, came to comfort him in his cell.

Andrea was brought to trial and was sentenced to die. The evidence was all against him, in spite of his known gentle nature and unsullied character. Out of regard for the latter, however, the time before his execution was extended, and he was also commissioned, before his death, to carve a wood sculpture for the hall of justice in which he was tried and sentenced.

The irony of this last commission might have been too much for another man; but Andrea harbored no grudge, and set to work, with his daughter always at his side for comfort and inspiration. At last the sculpture was completed; the work had sustained Andrea as long as its labor lasted.

High as Andrea's reputation had been, it was surpassed by the beautiful group which now met the eyes of the magistrates. Its subject was "Eternal Justice"—not the woman with blindfolded eyes and balanced scales—but an open-eyed angel, all-beholding, and equally rewarding all. They looked upon it in silence, and then turned to the artist, who, wan and haggard, stood behind his judges. The magistrate could not restrain their admiration—the eye of the unfortunate sculptor brightened for a moment at their warm praise, but immediately his face returned to its accustomed melancholy.

"It is all in vain," he said. "You cannot make men forget the past—you cannot remove the blot from the name of my children—you cannot give to their father his forfeit life."

"There is still hope, Andrea; have you courage to hear it?"

The sculptor started up. "Tell me only that I am proved innocent, and I will thank God and die."

"Take heart! Many strange things have been discovered today," said one of the magistrates. "Be calm now. Ere long we may send you good news."

All that day Andrea sat with his daughter, Gertrude, in his arms, kissing her, at times almost weeping over her. "Tomorrow," he said, "we may be free."

"Shall we go to our own home?" asked Gertrude, as she left him for the night.

"Yes, dear child," said Andrea, kissing her once more. "Yes, I shall go home tomorrow."

He had spoken truth. When officers entered the next day, bearing a release for him, they found him with his head on his arms, leaning on the table as though asleep. A letter had come from a woman who had written evidence that Melchoir Kunst intended to kill himself, thus relieving Andrea of all blame. Andrea was innocent! But as he leaned there on the table he did not look up. His face was without expression—no life shone in his fixed and open eyes. The sculptor of Bruges was dead—his heart had broken with joy.

SUNDAY WILL BE DEDICATED TO PEACE

League of Nations' Drive Will Be Concentrated as April 17 Draws Near

Enthusiasm was the prevailing note at the meeting of the League of Nations Society's campaign meeting held last night at 1014 Broad Street, under the chairmanship of Mr. Lindley Crease.

Letters from several organizations and individuals announcing their intention of joining the society, and the receipt of a donation of $50 towards the expenses of the campaign from Colonel Colman, who said he possessed enthusiasm for the League of Nations Society and energy to work for it, created an atmosphere of utmost optimism.

Every committee reported satisfactory progress and told of earnest supporters who were joining and using their influence to bring in others. All the principal organizations in the city were represented, and Mr. R. S. Mabee, campaign manager, is looking for a record result.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald carried away a large package of membership cards which he promised to return with signatures.

Pastors of all denominations will preach on the League of Nations Sunday, and literature and membership cards will be available at Christ Church Cathedral and City Temple after each service.

Tables with canvassers will be placed in banks and leading stores, and golfers will be waylaid at the first tee.

A special effort will be made to enroll all school teachers as the first step towards influencing the children to think in terms of peace.

There is a scarcity of canvassers at present. Anyone willing to canvass for the whole or part of April 17 is requested to communicate with headquarters, corner of Government and Broughton Streets; telephone 10.

Instinct is not infallible. The early robin sometimes wishes he had waited a while.

CHINOOK RUGS

To meet the widespread demand for further information on the art of making hooked rugs, the Victoria Women's Institute is arranging to hold classes of instruction in all branches of the work, which will commence as soon as the students have registered.

Quilts Monuments to Woman's Courage

TORONTO, Ont., April 12.—Anne Elizabeth Wilson, writing in The Chatelaine, on Canadian patchwork quilts, says:

Quilt-making is a proud and courageous sort of needlework. The older quilts of pioneer workmanship represent individual industry that, amid the daily hardships of the time of their making, is a monument to women's fortitude and patience. While in the old world their sisters were engaged in the Victorian vagaries of wool mottos and antimacassars, the women of the new world still clung to this dignified, useful and notably sociable form of handicraft. (A quilting bee was, and still is, in many parts of Canada, a rural event.).

An allover white quilt, enriched only with stitchery pattern, is a poem. Of old, in the colonies, the needlewoman of some pretensions often had whole quilts designed for her by artists or architects, tracing an exquisite bas relief with her needle. There is sometimes something very personal about quilt names. Intricate quilting was, as a rule, not so much practiced among the farm women of Upper Canada as the women of the Maritimes, but occasionally an ambitious worker would undertake to autograph a quilt with her own name or initials, or a quilting party would identify the work in some other way. Occasionally such notes as Mrs. Jones' Choice or Molly's Favorite will be stitched into the coverlet, either in white quilting stitch or a darker outline. There are many common quilt names of the same genre. Gentleman's Fancy and Widower's Choice always impressed me as particularly piquant. Touching, too, are Crazy Anne, Lady's Delight and Old Maid's Puzzle.

FORESTRY CAR WILL TOUR ISLAND

Lecture Tour Will Be Made to Every Point Where Automobile Can Travel on Island

The Canadian Forestry Association's Spring and Summer campaign for prevention of forest fires in British Columbia will open tomorrow, when a motor car lecture expedition with Mr. Ernest Ablet as lecturer, will leave Vancouver for Vancouver Island points. Mr. T. H. Wilkinson, manager for British Columbia of the Canadian Forestry Association, states.

Three months will be spent on the Island visiting every community available by motor road. The car is equipped with motion picture projection machine and electric generator and also forestry literature. It is estimated that 4,000 miles will be covered in giving lectures on Vancouver Island, points on the North Shore, Howe Sound and communities south of the Fraser River as far as the international border, and that the trip will not be concluded until September.

The lecture programme includes a talk on forestry, particularly as regards the fire menace, the exhibition of motion pictures on forestry, recent British Columbia news events and industrial scenes.

The Liberal Women's Forum will meet this afternoon at the party headquarters at 2:45 o'clock. There will be an address, and also a programme of music during the afternoon. Ward Five will entertain at the tea hour.

RANGERS WIN AND SEW UP CUP GAMES AGAIN

BOUCHER'S MARKER DEFEATS MONTREAL TO TIE UP SERIES

Fourth Game for World's Professional Ice Hockey Supremacy Ends in Favor of Americans by One to Nothing Score—Deciding Encounter to Be Played Saturday

11,000 Fans See Teams In Strenuous Struggle

Suspension of Lamb Disrupts Canadian Champions Second String Forward Line and Throws Entire Team Out of Balance—Miller Shines in Net for New Yorkers

MONTREAL, Que., April 12.—A fifth and deciding game will be necessary before the ultimate winners of the Stanley Cup for the year 1928 are known.

The New York Rangers tonight scored a 1-0 victory over the Montreal Maroons in the fourth game of the world's championship series, thus knotting the game count at two each. The Maroons won the first and third games by decisive two-goal margins, but dropped the second and tonight's fixtures by one goal.

Tonight's game was a strenuous struggle in which the Maroons had a slight edge in territorial play but which they were not able to convert into goals owing to the good work of Miller, the New York goalie. At that the Rangers well deserved their victory. They flashed an offensive which, at times, swept all before it, and gave Benedict a busy night. The feature of the visitors' play, however, was the defensive work of that hefty pair, Abel and Johnson. These two proved a continual thorn in the side of the Maroon offensive threats, and gave Miller practically airtight protection throughout.

THE LONE COUNTER

The lone goal of the contest was scored by Frank Boucher, brilliant Ranger centre star, early in the second period, when he grabbed a rebound off Benedict's pads and sniped the disc over the Montreal goalie's prostrate form. Johnson started the scoring play. He carried to the blue line, passed to Bill Cook; the latter was forced behind the net, but kept control of the disc and managed to snap the rubber out in front. Benny stopped one shot but fell in doing so. Boucher then grabbed the loose puck and flipped it into the net. Over eleven thousand fans witnessed the fourth contest of the series.

Rangers went into the game with the knowledge that defeat would mean oblivion as far as championship honors for 1928 were concerned. Every man on the team from ranking star to lowliest substitute, played well and gave all they had in the cause of victory. They were without the services of Paul Thompson, a sub who was suspended for having earned a match penalty in the previous game along with Joe Lamb, Montreal sub, for staging a fist fight.

The visiting New Yorkers, however, did not miss Thompson as much as the locals missed Lamb, who has been an integral part of the Montrealers second string forward line. Lamb's absence threw the entire Maroon team out of balance, as they had no regular right wing substitute available. Phillips was switched from sub centre, but that left the pivot position unfilled and Hooley Smith was forced to go practically the entire game without relief.

When he was off and Phillips went to centre, there was nobody to relieve at right wing. This tended to upset the regular routine of the Montreal team's play.

RANGER'S GOALIE STARS

However, no credit should be taken from the New Yorkers, who thoroughly deserved the honors, with full credit for the victory going to Miller, Johnson and Abel, with the others not far behind.

Nels Stewart was the most consistent scoring threat on the ice for the losers, the big left-winger giving one of his best displays of the season. At one time during the third period, when the Maroons were throwing everything they had on the offensive, Stewart got a pass from Dutton right in front of Miller. It looked for a moment as if the score would at last be tied up, but the New York goalie, brought in as a relief for the injured Chabot, moved quickly and smothered the puck before Stewart could get it into the net.

The rest of the Montreal team were held in check fairly well by the well-organized Ranger defensive system.

The line-ups:

Rangers	Position	Maroons
Miller	Goal	Benedict
Johnson	Defence	Siebert
Abel	Defence	Sutton
F. Boucher	Centre	H. Smith
W. Cook	Wing	Ward
F. Cook	Wing	Stewart
Gray	Sub	Munro
Boyd	Sub	Oatman
Murdock	Sub	Brown
Bourgault	Sub	Phillips
Callighen	Sub	Walsh

Referees: Marsh and Rodden, Toronto.

First Period: No score. Penalties: Bourgault, Oatman, Johnson and Smith.

Second period: 1, Rangers, Boucher, 6:16. Penalties: Johnson, Ward and Murdock.

FRANK BOUCHER

Who scored the lone goal of last night's game which gave the New York Rangers a 1-0 victory over the Montreal Maroons. Rangers' victory evens up the world's hockey series, each team having won two games.

Third Period: No score. Penalties: Johnson, Oatman, Stewart (2).

BALL SEASON OPENS MAY 2

Tillicums Will Battle Sidney in Opening Game of Commercial Baseball League

FOUR CLUBS WILL PLAY THIS YEAR

Sidney vs. Tillicums. That is how the Commereial Baseball League teams will staek up in the season's opener on Wednesday, May 2, at the Royal Athletic Park at 6.15 o'clock. Andy MacGavin, donor of the MacGavin Cup, and "Red" Ramsdale, donor of "Red's" Servlee Station Trophy, will officiate at the opening ceremony.

Two other clubs, Westholme Hotel and Spencers, will make the league a four-team loop. Last year the commercial balltossers experienced their most successful season and, judging by the interest shown at the meetings held this year, another successful season should be experienced.

The Millmen copped the league championship last year for the second consecutive season, while the Tillicums captured "Red's" Service Station Trophy after a hard-fought series. Managers of the clubs, who attended last night's meeting, reported that they have plenty of good material lined up.

MERCEDES GLEITZ ACCEPTS DEFI FOR ENDURANCE TEST

LONDON, April 12. — Mercedes Gleitz, English swimmer, who recently announced that she had swum the Strait of Gibraltar, has accepted a challenge by Mrs. Lottie Schoemmel, long distance swimmer, to compete in a championship endurance test.

The place for the swim was not specified, but Miss Gleitz made the condition that it must be in the open sea.

THREE CLUBS IN BALL LOOP

Old-Timers Make Third Entry in Senior Amateur Baseball League — Start Practices Immediately

WILL ADD INTEREST TO PENNANT RACE

Baseball players of yesteryear, when Victoria's diamond performers were known throughout the province for their prowess at the bat and ball, will be seen in action this year; not in exhibition games, but as the third club in the Senior Amateur Baseball League.

Frank Moore, who was one of those outstanding players in the years gone by, has come to the front with the information that he is lining up his colleagues of a few seasons ago for the purpose of competing in the local hoop.

For a number of long days and worrying weeks for the officials of the league, it looked as if there would only be two teams, the Sons of Canada, last year's champions, and the Eagles. But at that the heads were game to carry on the battle and proceed with a two team league.

The club will be known as the Old-Timers, and, according to the manager, will be in the race all the way. The veterans will be out at practices shortly getting in shape for the opening.

Guy Morley will manage the Old-Timers, and has already signed up eighteen veterans including Alex. Straith, Tom Zacarelli, Alex. Potts, George Straith, "Hap" Gandy, Hy. Green and Frank Moore.

If the officials will grant Walter Gravlin an amateur card, he also will play with the Old-Timers.

FOLEY TO MEET RITCHIE KING

Vancouver Fighter Will Leave for East After Bout — Promoters Angling for Services

VANCOUVER, April 12.—Ritchie King, the all-navy champion, and Vic Foley have been matched to meet in a ten-round bout here on Friday, April 20.

Foley and King met in a sensational bout here a few weks ago, which resulted in a draw. Since then King met Tod Morgan and gave him a real battle and Foley met and beat the world's bantam champion, Bud Taylor.

King is in Seattle preparing for the bout, and is to arrive here Saturday morning.

This will be Foley's last start on the Coast for some time as he leaves for the East immediately after the King bout. Several Eastern promoters have made overtures for important bouts.

Chicago promoters want him for a return bout with Bud Taylor. Montreal wants him to meet Leo (Kid) Roy for the Canadian featherweight title, and New Orleans for a shot at Tony Canzonerri, the featherweight champ.

Ross Somerville Loses at Twentieth Hole in Quarter-Finals of North and South Amateur Golf

PINEHURST, N.C., April 12.—John Dawson, Chicago, conqueror in the quarter final round of Eddie Held, New York, medalist, won his way to the final in the men's North and South amateur golf championship by eliminating Donald Parson, Youngstown, Ohio, in the semi-finals.

Both the quarter and semi-finals were played today. Dawson beat Held by two up and in turn downed the Ohioan by the same margin.

The Chicagoan player tomorrow will attempt to wrest the tournament title from George Voight, of Washington, D.C., defending champion.

Voight today saved himself by pulling out at the twentieth hole a match with C. Ross Somerville, former Canadian amateur champion. In the semi-finals he defeated seventeen-year-old Charles Wilson, Southern Pines, N.C., a Georgetown University freshman, by two and one.

Suspensions Lifted Pro Tem. by Amateur Head

President Leonard Tait Will Allow Boxers Under Fire to Appear at Nanaimo—Hockey Player Puzzled Over Situation

Temporary lifting of suspensions on boxers charged with breaches of the amateur code, to allow some of the fighters to appear on the amateur card to be presented at Nanaimo Saturday night, was announced yesterday by President Leonard Tait, of the British Columbia Amateur Athletic Union. The card was arranged some time ago and several boxers now under suspension are billed to appear. In order not to hurt the show, they will be allowed to enter the ring.

The lifting of the suspensions will only be for Saturday night's card and those under fire are warned that they must not take part in any other cards until the cloud hovering around them has been cleared away.

TO MEET WEDNESDAY

President Tait declared that the Boxing Commission would assemble at the Y.M.C.A. next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock to hear the findings of the local board. If these are not satisfactory it is understood that the commission will bring the alleged offenders before them.

A new angle was given to the question yesterday by one of the local athletes, who has been barred for several years on account of playing professional hockey. He wants to know why he should be kept out of sports while others who are said to have accepted money for their services as boxers are reinstated and allowed to appear in amateur bouts.

Last season the Victoria Amateur Ice Hockey Club would have been delighted if they could have used Ed Diedel and Gordon Meeking, two ex-professional hockey players, who played one season with the Victoria professional team. Permission was asked by the club to use these men, who would have greatly strengthened the team, but officials of the Amateur Union frowned on the suggestion of letting these out-and-out professionals mingle with Simon-pures again, and the pleas were in vain. They would like to get another chance.

LACROSSE MEN OUT YEARS

For several years Joe Mitchell, Ernie Munro and "Sugar" MacDougall, star lacrosse players, were kept out of sport for their breach of amateur etiquette in professional lacrosse in the short-lived Con Jones league seven or eight years ago. These three men would have helped materially in bringing back the gutted stick game to where it belongs, but they were denied a chance and were only given permission to play two years ago.

Being out of the game seven or eight years did not improve their play greatly, and when they were given the chance they found that their legs were not as young as when they quit, and their other muscles did not function quite as freely after the forced layoff.

TEAMS FACING HARD MATCHES

Contests in English Football League Beginning to Assume Importance for Number of Clubs

HUDDERSFIELD MAY GET TWO HONORS

LONDON, April 12. — With only four more games to play this season, contests in the English Football League from now on assume great importance for a number of clubs. In the First Division, Huddersfield Town have a fine chance to cop both league championship and Football Association Cup. They have a hard row to hoe, however, Saturday they must journey to Highbury to meet Arsenal. Their remaining league fixtures include matches with Burnley, Leicester City and Portsmouth. In between they must play the cup final on April 21 with Blackburn Rovers.

Everton, runners-up for league leadership, also have a tough series of matches before them in Sheffield United, Aston Villa, Burnley and Arsenal. At the bottom of the table and facing demotion to the Second Division, just now, are the two Sheffield teams. The United team can be expected to put a desperate fight in their remaining matches and may escape the axe, but The Wednesday appear doomed.

In the Second Division, Chelsea has been pushed out of the leadership again by Leeds United, when the latter won a midweek fixture. No forecast can be made about what teams will earn promotion, as Leeds, Chelsea, Manchester City and Preston North End are so close together in the averages. South Shields will most certainly drop to the Third Division.

In the minor leagues it is sure that Millwall, leading the Southern section, and Bradford, in front in the Northern section, will be elevated to the Second Division.

JAMES ISLAND TO MEET ESQUIMALT IN SOCCER FINAL

James Island and Esquimalt junior soccer machines will battle in the Lower Island Cup final at Beacon Hill lower ground tomorrow at 3 o'clock. Rival squads have plenty of good material and a hard battle is expected.

Local Boy Winds Up Extensive Training for Battle With English Champion Tomorrow Night

FOUR SUPPORTING BOUTS ARE BILLED

Tommy Fielding, local featherweight, who will meet Tommy Burge, English champion, in a ten-round mill at the Tillicum Club gymnasium tomorrow night, wound up extensive training last night and appeared to be in the pink of condition. The local scrapper went through ten fast rounds and was fresh at the end. He will do a little rope work tonight.

Fielding is favored to take the English champ by the knockout route by fans, who have seen both fighters in action. Fielding's new defensive and attacking tactics have improved him wonderfully and Joe Bailey figures he has a coming champion under his wing.

Varsity Hoop Team Far Too Strong for Regina

British Columbia University Basketballers Swamp Prairie Team Under 63-30 Score in First Play-Off Game

REGINA, April 12.—Regina basketballers will not have much to do with the Dominion championship this year. This much was made clear tonight when Regina suffered a 63-30 drubbing in their first game against the British Columbia University. The second game will be played Saturday night, and as total points in two games decided the issue the University boys will likely continue their journey east to Winnipeg, there to take on the Toilers for the Western Canada championship.

The Reginians were outclassed in every department of the game. The Vancouverites showed a marked superiority both on attack and defence.

Although the local aggregation got away to a good start and for the first few minutes enjoyed a lead, it was short lived, for the sharpshooting of the visitors soon made up the deficiency and slowly they crept away from Regina. At the end of the first half the score stood 27-12 for the visitors and they more than held their own with Regina during the second period.

The British Columbia boys never used a sub during the whole of the contest. Regina was obliged to use a new man when Fitz Sandstrom was called out of the game at second half through a foul. Burres took his place and during the half went on for Chuck Edwards. The changes, however, made no difference for the University boys.

GOLF COURSE TO STRADDLE BORDER

Clubhouse Will Be Situated on Canadian Soil If Plans Are Carried Out

MONTREAL, April 12.—A nineteen-hole golf course planned to straddle the Quebec-Vermont frontier threatens to entangle Canada and the United States in diplomatic negotiations.

Eighteen holes are scheduled for Vermont and the clubhouse, with the nineteenth, is to rest upon Quebec soil, according to dispatches from Boston which appeared in The Star yesterday.

Just what the position of players, clubs, balls, etc., will be every time they cross the international boundary in either direction is the question which is now engrossing some of the most frivolous minds.

The proposal for the construction of such a course was advanced by Francis Ouimet, former open champion of the United States. The course will be at Richford, Vermont, at least the eighteen holes of the course will be there. The clubhouse will be across the border in Quebec. Prominent men will grace the membership roll with their names. Those of Major-General James G. Harbord and Brigadier-General Avery Andrews are on the list.

SO MANY ANGLES

Naturally the question of immigration, customs and several other complications arise in considering that part of the course will be in Canada and the rest in the United States. Members will probably expect to pass the international boundary unmolested. It is all in the interest of golf—and prohibition. But it has been pointed out that, be the clubhouse ever so close to the border, it is nevertheless in another country and international relations must be respected.

The immigration law states that before a man enters Canada he must report to an immigration official for permission. This would be very disturbing for the golfers as the nearest official to the course is some miles distant. It might inconvenience a golfer to finish his game and then, with the thirst that knows no quenching in the United States, go in search for an official to permit his access to a moister clime.

CUSTOMS DUTIES

The custom duties also enter into the question. The law declares that anyone entering Canada from across the border, shall, if he is accompanied by any sporting goods, such as golf equipment, deposit with the official who examines his chattels, a sum equal in value to the duty that would be required on the goods. This might be inconvenient also. It has been suggested that a member of the club might arrange a kind of savings account with the customs people. From this would be deducted his current expenses of crossing the line with full equipment and the sum would be refunded to him on his return. This fund would also take care of a situation arising out of a badly sliced ball that falls in Canadian territory. If he is a dishonest man, nothing will prevent him from phoning a friend in Canada and asking him to throw back the troublesome ball.

Insurance companies in Montreal say that the plan does not materially concern them except from the angle of cargoes, presumably on the return from the clubhouse to the United States. In regard to the Canadian liquor imbibed in the clubhouse they say that there is a clause in the insurance law that provides no insurance or cancels the insurance of any vessel that, leaving a port in an unseaworthy condition, loses its cargo. The inference is obvious.

The Quebec Liquor Commission was expected to throw some light on another angle of the question, but Secretary Giguere informed The Star that until the problem came before the commissioners it was impossible to forecast the attitude they might take.

James Bay Juveniles To Meet Royal Oak

James Bay and Royal Oak juveniles from Division One, will meet at Beacon Hill, upper ground, tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock, with MacKay handling the whistle.

A meeting of the Victoria and District Juvenile Football Association will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. As arrangements will be made to wind up the season, all clubs are requested to have delegates present.

RACING DRIVER FAILS TO BREAK WORLD'S RECORD

DAYTONA BEACH, April 12.—Ray Keech, veteran racing driver, today made an unsuccessful attempt to lower the world's automobile speed record, his two runs on the beach at 155 and 144 miles an hour respectively, falling short of the present mark of 206.9 set a few weeks ago by Major Malcolm Campbell, of London.

Keech, after the runs, announced he would postpone further efforts until tomorrow, on account of the roughness of the beach.

CELTIC TO MEET RANGERS TOMORROW

Strong Teams Will Battle for Scottish Football Association Cup at Glasgow

GLASGOW, Scotland, April 12.—Celtic and Rangers, both Glasgow teams, meet on Saturday in the final for the Scottish Football Association Cup. The tie brings together the two strongest teams in Scottish soccer. Anything may happen, and pickers of a winner are divided among the partisans of both teams. Celtic are the cupholders, while Rangers lead the first division of the Scottish League at present. Celtic are in second place in the averages.

Both teams have appeared in a number of cup finals before, though Celtic have the better record as winners. Twelve times the cup has been handed to their captain, while Rangers have won only four times. The last time these two teams met in a cup final, in 1909, they made history. Two drawn games were played, and after the second, a riot took place in the grandstand at Hampden Park here, the grounds of Queen's Park, owing to a misunderstanding about overtime. Pay boxes were set on fire while much damage was done to the grandstand and terraces. Over one hundred people were treated by doctors for injuries.

THE TEAMS

Rangers: Hamilton, Gray, R. Hamilton, Muirhead (or Buchanan), Meiklejohn, Craig, Archibald, Cunningham (or Simpson), Fleming, McPhail and Morton.

Celtic: J. Thompson, W. McStay, McGonigle, Wilson, J. McStay, McFarlane, Connelly, A. Thompson, McGrory, McNally (or Wilson) and McLean.

Saturday's encounter will be the fifth time Celtic and Rangers have met in a Scottish cup final. Celtic claims two successes against one defeat. Betting on the game today was at even money.

Mrs. Gaut eliminated Mrs. John Armstrong, Jackson, Miss., champion, 4 and 3.

EL RENO, Okla., April 12.—A. Payne, twenty-year-old Claremore, Okla., youth, shook off the challenge of Peter Gavuzzi, of Southampton, England, in today's thirty-seven mile grind of the transcontinental foot race, after running dead heats with the Englishman for two days. Payne loped into El Reno from Bridgeport, Okla., in 6:26:24, slightly increasing his lead over Gavuzzi, who holds second place in elapsed time in the derby. Gavuzzi's time today was 6 hours 32 minutes, giving him an elapsed time of 248:19:50 as compared with the Oklahoma boy's 246:49:31 for the 1,458 miles, stretching back to the starting point at Los Angeles. Niels Nielsen, Chicago, sprang a surprise in turning in the best performance of the day, covering the thirty-seven miles in the fast time of 5:20:26 to take thirty-third position with an elapsed time of 347:57:36. Until ten days ago he was among the stragglers.

IMPERIAL ECONOMIC COMMITTEE ACTIVE

Each Principal Part of British Empire Represented by at Least Two Members

The Imperial Economic Committee has now been at work somewhat under three years. Both scientific and business men and those engaged in public administration have generously placed their knowledge and experience at the disposal of the committee. The fact that each principal part of the Empire is represented by at least two members has rendered it possible for some members to serve for several years and so enable the committee to build up a tradition and for others to be appointed for short terms so as to bring to the committee special knowledge fresh from overseas. In some cases, as in those of Sir Mark Sheldon and Mr. Clifford from Australia, advantage was taken of the presence in London of distinguished visitors from overseas to nominate them to the committee for the time being; in other cases, as, for instance, in those of Mr. McQuat and Mr. Cowie from Canada, gentlemen with specialist knowledge were sent over for the express purpose of participating in inquiries into specific subjects. The committee has also derived benefits from the tours which several of the members have made to portions of the Empire overseas—notably those of the chairman, the Rt. Hon. Sir Halford Mackinder, Sir Sydney Henn, M.P., Sir Thomas Allen, Sir Edward Davson, M. F. N. Blundell, M.P. and Mr. J. Dimond.

TERMS EXTENDED

Since the committee was appointed in 1925, its terms of reference have been extended by the Imperial Conference of 1926, and the Empire Marketing Board, well endowed with funds, has been appointed in Great Britain to foster the increased consumption of Empire produce in that country. The report now published, besides throwing light on the actual work of the committee and stating the subjects to which its attention is now being directed, sets out clearly and succinctly the distinction between the work and objects of the committee and those of the Empire Marketing Board. The ultimate object of both is the same; to foster an increased consumption of Empire produce from home and overseas in Great Britain and to assist measures—especially those in the field of co-ordinated research—directed towards that end. But in constitution, methods of work and duties the two bodies are entirely distinct.

The Imperial Economics Committee derives its authority from the Imperial Conferences, can only investigate subjects remitted to it with the consent of all the Governments of the Empire, has a fixed constitution whereby each Government participating in Imperial Conferences nominates its own representatives and is charged solely with the duty of investigation and report. It remains with each Government to decide the extent to which it will give effect to any of the committee's recommendations.

MARKETING BOARD

The Empire Marketing Board is entrusted with funds and executive powers by His Majesty's Government in Great Britain to further the marketing of Empire products from home and overseas in the United Kingdom. The Empire Marketing Board is thus an executive organization responsible to His Majesty's Government, whilst the Imperial Economic Committee is an Imperial Council reporting to all the prime ministers of the Empire on the economic subjects referred to it. Representative as it is of all parts of the Empire, it should be able to bring to the consideration of its subjects the experience and knowledge of all parts to be thrown into a common pool, not for the advantage of any one particular part of the Empire, but for the benefit of all, for the improvement in the preparation and marketing of Empire products, and especially for and in the markets of the United Kingdom.

By purchasing goods produced in the oversea Empire in preference to those imported from foreign countries, says the report, it is in the power of the people of the Old Country to offer an increased market for Empire produce. To render voluntary preference effective three things were necessary:

(1) That the consumer should be induced to select Empire goods.

(2) That he should be able to recognize Empire goods.

(3) That Empire goods should be adequate in supply and quality, and reasonable in price.

TREES IN THOUSANDS PLANTED IN BRITAIN

Reforesting Proceeding on a Gigantic Scale—Looking Forward Fifty or Sixty Years

LONDON, April 12—The vision of a huge forest on the borders of Suffolk and Norfolk, where people twenty or thirty years hence can live or spend their holidays, is conjured up by the progress which the forestry commissioners are making with their woodland at Thetford.

"This season," declared the secretary to the commissioners, to a reporter, "we are planting 3,100 acres of pine, larch, fir and spruce in this area, which is already bigger than the New Forest. Timber for pit props will be available in twenty years, small timber in thirty years, and big timber in fifty or sixty years. When the trees reach maturity there is no doubt that at places like Thetford villages will spring up in the forest clearings where folk will live and visitors will come to renew their health. The hamlets will bring into being workshops as in Germany, where craftsmen can turn out clogs, chairs, barrels and baskets. There is sufficient undulating in the county in the neighborhood to lend variety to the layout of the trees."

In reclaiming the wastelands the commissioners are rapidly changing the face of the country, so that emigrants returning to their native spots in thirty years' time will scarcely know them—since 1920 over 94,000 acres in about 100 centres have been planted with approximately 1,800 trees to the acre.

Great Britain is planting more trees than any other country in the world, and it is hoped that eventually it will be able to supply a considerable parts of its timber needs. This season 23,000 more trees are going into the land. In a little over three years 380 forest workers' holdings have been set up in the forests, and 220 more are on the way. In the Winter the men are sure of 150 days' work in the woods, while in the Summer they can raise cows, bees, and chickens on their miniature farms ranging up to ten acres.

The forsaters who supervise the planting wear a khaki cloth uniform.

"Mother is the necessity for invention," said father, as he tried to think up a new excuse for being out late.

Young Conservatives Will Meet Monday

There will be a meeting of the Saanich Young People's Conservative Association on Monday evening next, commencing at 8 o'clock. The meeting has been called for the S.P.C.A. rooms, Arcade Block.

It is the hope of the officers of the organization that there shall be a large attendance of members. The request is also made that those attending be there on time, as it is the intention to begin promptly.

DR. H. A. FRICKER SPEAKS ON MUSIC

Tells Rotarians He Hopes Music Is Encouraged in City Schools—Value of Festivals Outlined

"I hope the educational authorities in Victoria are encouraging the teaching of music in the schools. It is important for the young to learn the art of music while they are at school," Dr. H. A. Fricker, of Toronto, conductor of the famous Mendelssohn Choir, and one of the adjudicators of the Victoria Musical Festival, said yesterday in a brief address at the Rotary Club's luncheon session in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

Dr. Fricker was generous in his praise of the Musical Festival which is now in progress in Victoria. The work promised well, there was the right enthusiasm among the candidates, and they all seemed to be imbued with the proper sporting spirit. The organization of the festival was in splendid hands, and the arrangements were being carried out in a most creditable way, he declared.

"It seems to me that a festival along these lines should receive hearty support from all sources. The object of the festival is generally educative, and it is from the younger children we expect to get the most out of the festival," Dr. Fricker said.

The speaker, referring to the value and place of music in national life, asked what Canada would be like if for the next six months it was without music of any kind. It would be certainly a very dull country, and the people would be lost without music.

"Remember, in supporting the musical festival you are aiding in the education of the young in music," he concluded amid applause.

Mrs Carl Denton, of Portland, and Mr. Graham Morgan, of Seattle, two other adjudicators at the festival here, occupied seats at the head table.

Rotarian J. C. M. Keith announced that Dr. Fricker would give an organ recital on Monday night next in the Metropolitan United Church.

Eugenic Film to To Be Exhibited at Playhouse Theatre

"Are You Fit to Marry?" the sex hygenic film which has had phenominal success in the United States, will make its premiere showing in Victoria, beginning next Monday and continuing for the rest of the week. Continuous shows from 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. will be presented at the Playhouse Theatre.

The film is devoted to a frank discussion of the social evil and the means of combatting it, and is being endorsed by the leading organizations in British Columbia, who were invited recently to a special preview.

Children under sixteen are barred from seeing the film, because of the delicate theme of the story. However, parents are urged to bring their children who are over this age so that they may absorb the lesson that is taught in a forceful way.

Although the film is frank and powerful, the entire plot is about what is happening in everyday life in the largest cities. The film treats in a serious manner the vital subject of social hygiene. In order to make it more forceful a story has been enacted to demonstrate the disaster resulting from marriages where the health of the contracting parties has not been given careful consideration.

In conjunction with the showing of "Are You Fit to Marry?" Dr. Lyle Telford will give a talk on companionate marriage. Dr. Telford will begin his lectures Thursday and continue to Saturday with two lectures daily.

Malaspina Mine Will Be Visited By Directors

Victoria directors of the Malaspina mine, which is located about six miles north of Powell River, accompanied by other shareholders in this city, left yesterday on a tour of inspection. They will meet the managing director of the company, Mr. W. C. Dickinson, there, and discuss with him the plans for the future. The property is showing up well at present.

The local directors who left on the trip were Messrs. H. J. Pendray, R. W. Mayhew, and W. Tuck. Mr. Bryant, of the Pacific Tidewater Mines, Ltd., accompanied them.

In Esquimalt Court

John Stevens and Earl Hill pleaded guilty in the Esquimalt Police Court yesterday before Magistrate George Jay to wilfully damaging two electric light lamps in the Gorge Park, the property of the B.C. Electric Railway, and were fined $10 and $2.50 costs, or in default of payment, five days in jail. The circumstances of the case were related by Constable Delmar Hodnett, who apprehended the two accused while they were committing the offence.

At The Playhouses

VARIETY THEATRE "Roses of Picardy" is a story of the reaction of two men and a woman to the war. It opens up a problem that will intrigue all womenfolk. "Roses of Picardy," showing today at the Variety Theatre, is the finest war film yet made. It has one of the most impressive finales yet seen in a film play, a climax that is a veritable tour de force and which will send few away with dry eyes. You must not miss this wonderful film, which, you will agree, is different from any war film that you have previously seen.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE The new comedy in which the popular team of George Sidney and Charlie Murray appear is now sending audiences of the Playhouse Theatre into gales of laughter. The picture is "Flying Romeos," and tells a mile-a-minute tale of two barbers who unwittingly become involved in an airplane flight across the ocean because a financier thinks they are expert flyers.

DOMINION THEATRE Charlie Chaplin, whose newest United Artists comedy, "The Circus," is at the Dominion Theatre, recently gave it as his opinion, based on his own experience, that humility, kindliness and ability to make fun of himself are the chief qualities that any aspiring comedian must possess. "Unless he sees how big life is and how small he himself is, a comedian can't grasp the humor of his own situation in the universe. Humor is a sense of proportion. It is based on seeing the relation between bigness and littleness, between the sublime and the ridiculous."

COLISEUM THEATRE A wonderful bill is one of the many attractions at the Coliseum Theatre this week. First on the bill are the Near Sisters, in songs and dances. Next comes Buster, the man with the laugh; in a number of blackface banjo oddities that cause much merry laughter, and applause. Closing the vaudeville performance are the Marco Duo, who offer an operatic singing and talking skit that is the hit of the show. This couple have appeared in the city before and are well known here. On the screen is "The Secret Hour," starring Pola Negri, one of the most romantic stories of the star's brilliant career.

COLUMBIA THEATRE "The Thirteenth Hour," showing at the Columbia Theatre today, is a thrilling detective story that incorporates most all the devices used in the Shakespearean plays. With innumberable weird scenes, strange electrical effects, mysterious characters, etc., it is one of the most thrilling mystery dramas ever filmed, with Lionel Barrymore in the leading role as Neville Leroy, an aged professor, interested in occult science and carrying on his practice in a haunted house.

CAPITOL THEATRE The stage specialties at the Capitol Theatre today are headed by three of Fanchon & Marco's famous high class vaudeville presentations, which are so well known along the entire Pacific Coast for their excellence. The three acts introduce Frank and Ayres, the noted roller skaters, in a sensational and unique offering; Leo Lee, the vagabond tenor, in a song specialty; and Barnett and Clark, two dancers of exceptional merit, in a colorful dance revue. Harold Bechtel, the singing master of ceremonies, will complete this great bill. On the screen is Reginald Denny in "Thot's My Daddy," a comedy well worth seeing.

"Polly With a Past" Coming Here on May 7

A play that ran a year in New York, and then was most successful in London, is the offering of the Players' Club of the University of British Columbia, when they appear in Victoria on May 7. This delightful comedy has charmed Vancouver and other places where it has been presented to date, and is considered the best Players' Club production since "Green Stockings," in 1920. This is no mean tribute when one recalls the success of "Mr. Pim Passes By," "You and I," and Shaw's "Pygmalion" in recent years.

The cast is headed by Miss Hope Leeming, of Victoria, sister of Miss Marjorie Leeming, Canadian tennis champion. As Polly, she has won the highest plaudits from Coast critics. Alfred Evans, of Vancouver, the leading man, is a most capable actor, with a fine sense of pantomime. Others in the cast are Miss Frances Fowler, of Riondel; Miss Dorothy Mole, of Ladner; Misses Frances Madeley and Eileen Griffin, of Vancouver; Mr. Eric North, of Armstrong; Mr. William Masterson, of New Westminster; Mr. John Billings, formerly of Fernie; and Messrs. D. Wodlinger, Sidney Risk and Archie Little, of Vancouver.

The play calls for elaborate staging, and the settings have been so carefully designed that they won instant applause upon the rise of the curtain, from a Vancouver first night audience. The chic costumes are in keeping, and are the work of Vancouver's most exclusive shops. Brilliant acting and artistic staging make "Polly With a Past" a most finished production, and an evening in the theatre long to be remembered.

Marvelous Camera Effects Featured in "Wings" Production

The much discussed topic of camera "angles" is receiving new impetus through the work of William Wellman, who directed "Wings," which is coming to the Royal Victoria Theatre for the week of April 23. Not only does the director give the spectator the sensation of flying and participating in aerial combat, but every type and form of manoeuvre is photographed from every conceivable position in the production which tells, for the first time, the real story of the ace in the war. Two of the most unusual "shots" obtained were the "strafing" of an observation balloon with tracer bullets, which brought it to the earth in flames, and the actual bombing of a village whereby the spectator is allowed to follow the death-bearing missiles as they speed downward.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

FOOD POISONS

The largest amount of food poisoning comes from wholesome food being used at a time when the body is enervated—when the body cannot properly take care of the digestion of this food. Lying undigested in the stomach or intestines, even the best food will rapidly putrefy, and toxins will be developed, which will be poisonous to the system.

If a meal is eaten when you are angry, poison is sure to develop. It is likewise true that similar poisons will be produced under any mental strain. If you are tired, you are inviting disaster if you go to the table and eat a hearty meal. The digestive juices cannot flow properly and the food will, therefore, not be digested and assimilated. It is not possible for food to remain lying in the stomach or intestines in an inert condition; it must either nourish you or poison you.

Of course, combinations of food which are antagonistic to each other will not digest properly and often one kind of food is not digested at all and, therefore, it turns into a poisonous substance which is harmful to the body.

With our modern systems of refrigeration, it is not necessary to use foods which have spoiled or become tainted. If one is really hungry and the digestive juices are flowing freely, it is almost impossible to be poisoned by food which is only slightly tainted, but there are some insidious poisons, such as the poisoning produced by the bacillus Botulinus, which are very hard to detect, the action of which is very positive and dangerous. This poison is found mostly in canned goods, especially in canned string beans if the can has rusted and air has been let into an opening. This poisoning, however, occurs very rarely in canned string beans put up by canning companies, but is more often found in the home-canned string beans, where they are put up in glass jars and not sealed properly.

Oysters and clams which seem to be perfectly healthy are often infected with the germs of typhoid fever, and, used in their raw state, these kinds of shellfish are generally dangerous.

If any kind of protein food is used, where there is a slight taint to any part of it, it is liable to cause ptomaine poisoning if one is not in good health and is not really hungry for the meal.

If you are foolish enough to eat when the digestive juices are not flowing freely, the best thing to do, when you find you have been poisoned, is to vomit as soon as possible. This can be accomplished by drinking a glass of water in which a teaspoonful of baking soda has been dissolved, and tickling the throat with the finger. This will usually bring up the stomach contents and, of course, the poison will come along with it.

After you have vomited all that it is possible for you to vomit, it is a good plan then to take a dose of castor oil, using about four ounces at a time. Copious enemas should be used every hour for several hours in order to get out all of the poisonous material which might lodge in the colon.

You should, of course, get rid of these acute poisonings as soon as possible. But beware of the slow poisoning which comes from using the wrong kind of food and not digesting it, and having these poisons thrown into your system day after day in such a manner that they produce the chronic state of toxemia which leads to so many diseases.

MANY FEATURES FOR 16TH FROLIC

Militiamen and Daughters of the Empire Uniting in Preparing Great Entertainment

Features in plenty are being planned for the Canadian Scottish frolic to be held at the Crystal Garden on Monday next. The entertainment offered is a very varied one. There will be dancing on the various floors to the music of special orchestras, including the noted Crystal Garden orchestra and one being organzied by Bandmaster Miller of the Sixteenth. There will be swimming exhibitions and races. There will be cabaret numbers given by talented local artists assisted by choruses now being rehearsed. There will be available franc notes of various denominations with which various pastimes can be indulged in, including the popular Crown and Anchor, which was one of the sports of the troops behind the lines in the war; horse racing and other features; in fact, the frolic is being arranged on the scale of a gala entertainment.

The evening is being planned under the auspices of Municipal Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, which undertook the task of providing funds to secure regimental colors for the Highland battalion, upon which the battle honors won by the Sixteenth Battalion during the European War will be engrossed. Various Chapters of the Daughters of the Empire are planning special attractions; special cabaret, supper, art galllery, fish pond and other events. Musical numbers are being arranged by the Commodore Broughton Chapter. There will, in fact, be a feast of entertainment for those who are able to attend.

Tickets are available from members of the Daughters of the Empire, from Messrs. Gillespie, Hart & Todd, Fyvie Brothers, and members of the Sixteenth Battalion.

Ss. Princess Kathleen takes an excursion to Seattle, Saturday, May 12, leaving at 9 a.m.

"Aftermath"

By MRS. J. O. ARNOLD

When she joined the others at the breakfast table, looking but little the worse for her night of bitter conflict, a letter bearing the Melbourne postmark awaited her. It was from her late uncle's solicitor, brief and to the point. Certain unexpected circumstances had turned up in connection with his late client's affairs, and it would be advisable and satisfactory if Mrs. Trayle could make it convenient to undertake the voyage out. Otherwise there must be considerable delay, and probably protracted correspondence.

Norma folded the letter and replaced it in its envelope. It was kind of fate to provide her with this reasonable excuse. Her decision made before dawn would be easier because of it. Apparently fate approved of her intention.

She took Bunny out for a walk. She wanted every moment she could have with him. Colonel Denison and Lucy Titherington between them had monopolized him of late. They would have him all to themselves presently. It was her turn now. In a week's time she would return alone to town.

When, later on, the boy had been put to bed for his morning sleep, she wrote two letters, one to the Melbourne solicitor, and the other to a friend in London who had been with her at the Foreign Office. They had shared the same work and often the same pleasures, were of the same age and quite opposite temperaments—all of which made for friendship.

"I'm coming back to town on Thursday," Norma wrote, "after rusticating here for months. I shall stay until I can arrange my passage to Australia—as soon as possible. The chief entertainments at present here are sunsets. I'm dying for the theatre. I don't know what's on, or anything about anything. I feel positively mother-eaten. It seems aeons of time since we stood in a queue together, being entertained and giving pennies to the poor blind. We'll have decent seats this time, and enjoy ourselves before I sail. And it will all be my affair, you understand, and you'll be my guest. That's the chief joy of a legacy."

With more to the same effect. Mrs. Denison would not have recognized in the writer of that letter the Mrs. Trayle whom she knew. It showed a spirit of carelessness, almost recklessness, born of last night's suffering.

Yet it sufficiently expressed her mood. Her child must forget—she would forget, too. Once having made up her mind, she meant to carry the thing through without useless regrets, rebellion, desperate backward glances. She meant, when she got to London, to lose herself and drown memory in a continuous programme of amusement—using the word in its literal sense. After this fashion she hoped to blot out remembrance of Bunny—to numb the agony of sacrifice.

She shrank from the ordeal of telling Mrs. Denison, yet it had to be faced. Opportunity came that afternoon.

Norma permitted herself no delay. She told herself that her Rubicon was already crossed—her boats burnt to ashes. She would see Hilary's mother at once.

* * * * *

Mrs. Denison never indulged in a siesta. Not so had she been brought up. Early to rise and early to bed, meals at stated times, no novel reading before lunch, and no slumbering after it, comprised the Spartan code of her upbringing.

She sat now in her usual severe chair, knitting a white jersey for Bunny. She looked up as Norma entered the room.

"Come to the fire, my dear; it has turned so cold. I hope Bunny is warmly enough wrapped up. It is very different from what it is in the South, you know. I'm a little afraid for the darling——"

Norma looked at her observantly. Yes, she would look after the boy. Bunny would be well cared for: no doubt about that.

"How kind you are to him," she said gently, drawing a chair up to the fire. "I could not take better care of him myself."

"It isn't entirely disinterested," Mrs. Denison said, knitting diligently. "I do not want you to think that, my dear. Precious as he is to me on account of my husband, I love him very dearly for himself, I want you to believe that."

"I do. Were you really in earnest when you said you would like to keep him always?"

There was no quaver in the firm voice—only a shade of hardness in the clear tones

Mrs. Denison glanced up quickly. She put down her knitting.

"I was indeed very sincerely in earnest. But I have little hope——"

"I am going to Australia," Norma said in a detached voice, "almost at once—and may remain there. I have been thinking things over, and if you really wish to adopt my boy——"

Mrs. Denison's eyes searched her face. Either this was a direct answer to prayer, or Norma was beyond her comprehension. She waited to hear more.

"I have to think of him, and not of myself," Mrs. Trayle continued, still in that unemotional voice. "I am not rich enough to give him the education I should like him to have. I don't want life to be a bed of roses for him—work hurts no one—but I am not able to give him the advantages that are his right."

A note of defiance, of strong conviction, made those last words sound like a challenge.

"But, after all, you, his mother, are the proper person to bring him up—to shape the plastic years, to mould his character," Mrs. Denison said, conscience compelling her to speak against her own interest.

But Norma interrupted her.

"Am I? That is the popular idea, I know. It doesn't always work out satisfactorily." Then, flushing with a sudden sense that this was disingenuous: "I am going away, as I said, and my life will probably in the future be a wandering one. Bunny would be happier here with you, and I should have no anxiety about him. I know he would be safe."

"Do you realize what adoption really means? Your little boy would pass entirely from you to us. He would become ours. You would have no further say whatever as to his future. He would be practically dead to you from the day you gave him to us." Mrs. Denison lashed herself to the utterance.

Though she longed to possess the boy—though she saw salvation for her husband in this offer of renunciation—there must be no mistake: Mrs. Trayle must understand precisely what it would mean.

"Of course, I have thought of it all," Norma answered, a little impatiently. Was she not upon the rack, suffering in agony? "I understand completely. To cut it short, my dear Mrs. Deison, I am willing to give up Bunny to you and Colonel Denison once and for all—on certain conditions, of course."

The elder woman reflected. After all, she knew nothing of her guest.

"His father is dead?" she asked at last.

"Yes."

"Killed in the war, perhaps?"

"Yes."

Ther followed a silence.

"Having lost your husband, I should have thought his son would be doubly precious to you," Mrs. Denison said.

Another turn of the screw.

"I am not prepared to go into my reasons for what I propose," Norma said incisively. She was very pale, very composed.

"Certainly not—that is as you wish. Doubtless other matters of which I know nothing weigh with you. Let me hear the conditions."

Apparently Mrs. Trayle had prepared them with meticulous care before hand. She stated them severally, with a legal clearness and a brevity that was far from legal. As she named each condition Mrs. Denison bowed her head in assent. By the time all had been enumerated the future of Hilary's child was well and truly defined.

"You will like to see him now and then, will you not? Even if only once a year? There could be no objection to that."

Even this unnatural mother would surely desire that! But Mrs. Trayle shook her head.

"No. Once you take him, I will not see him again—never at any time. You must undertake to look upon me as dead. Let him believe himself to be an orphan. I wish above everything else that he may not even remember me. He is so young that I do not think that he will."

"If that is really your wish, then the sooner matters are settled the better. Bunny is no ordinary child. He is unusually intelligent. I would not trust him not to remember everything in another six months! He reminds me so much of Hilary——"

That was more than Norma could stand. She cut the interview short. No reminiscences of Hilary, for Heaven's sake!

"I shall return to London almost at once," she said briefly. "O course, I will sign any necessary papers before I go. And that, I think, finishes it."

Mrs. Denison held out her hand, and, when Norma's touched it, drew her to her side.

"My dear, I marvel at you! But at least you are sure—quite sure and certain—that Bunny is safe. We shall love him as our own—just as if he were our grandchild—Hilary's son!"

There was a pause.

"I have not yet asked for the boy's real name," Mrs. Denison continued. "I have never heard you mention it."

"His name is Derek."

Mrs. Denison broke into a smile—surprised, pleased.

"Derek!" she repeated. "How very curious. It is an old family name with us. There have been Derek Denisons at the Grange for generations. It happens to be my husband's name. Really, it is a most singular coincidence! It is not an ordinary name, is it?"

"Perhaps not. But it is Bunny's—and he is getting old enough to be called by it."

"Yes, I think so. Pet names cling so——"

Quite true. Bunny's pet name would cling to Norma's heart strings as long as she had life. That ended the interview.

Crossing the hall, Mrs. Trayle encountered Lucy Titherington. They had not met apart from others since Lucy's spiritualistic instructions.

"Well, how did you get on? Did you get any writing? Was it clear? Could you read the message?" she asked in a breath, volubly.

"I didn't get on at all. The pencil made hieroglyphics that I defy any human being to decipher. The whole thing was waste of time—rubbish!" Norma answered with irritation.

"You did get some marks, then? I expect you didn't know how to read them. You see, you aren't one of us. You don't understand. I wish yu would let me see the paper."

"You can if you like, with pleasure. I'm prepared to wager that you can't make head or tail of it. But I don't know what became of it—I crumpled it up."

"I'll have a hunt for it," Lucy said confidently, but Norma scarcely heard her.

It was done. Henceforth she would be alone. But Bunny would be safe. The mingled ecstasy and agony of sacrifice swept her like a flame.

A Nut that is Not a Nut

REFERRING, of course, to the succulent peanut, which, unlike normal nuts, grows underground, and is the root instead of the fruit of growth. But this does not nullify its native nuttiness. All this scientific information (for which no extra charge is made) leads up to the suggestion that Peanut Cookies are wonderfully appetizing and nutritious. Why not try a batch for that afternoon tea you are planning. Here's a recipe that gives fine results:

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups chopped peanuts
½ cup milk
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Cream butter and sugar, add beaten egg; sift together flour, baking powder and salt, add to first mixture alternately with milk, then add chopped peanuts and lemon juice. Drop on greased baking sheet by the spoonful and bake from 12 to 15 minutes.

CITY WILL HAVE NEW FERRY ROUTE

Announcement Is Made of Projected Service Between Victoria and Edmonds, Wash., in May

LINK WILL BE 57 MILES ACROSS

Alabama, Formerly Operating Out of Baltimore, Is Expected to Be Utilized—Tourists Will Benefit

Negotiations are in progress for the initiation of another ferry link with Victoria, from Edmonds, on Puget Sound, fourteen miles from Seattle, to Victoria.

The vessel proposed to be used is the Alabama, which has been engaged on the Chesapeake River, plying out of Baltimore for several years. It is proposed to inaugurate the service late in the month of May.

Announcement of the new service was made by Captain J. W. Troup, manager of the B.C. Coast Steamship Service, on his return yesterday afternoon from Seattle, where he met a number of transportation men who are interested in the new service. The journey between the two points is about fifty-seven miles, and ferry wharf accommodation is already in exisitence to provide for the ferry between Edmonds and Port Ludlow, on the Olympic Peninsula.

The vessel proposed to be used in this service is a steel vessel built and engined by the Maryland Steel Company, 293.8 feet long by fifty-four feet wide, and sixteen feet depth, and was built in 1893. Baltimore is the port of registry.

The initiation of this service will link the Washington mainland with this city by Seattle through the B.C. Coast Steamship Service, by Port Angeles through the Puget Sound Navigation Company, and by way of Sidney to Bellingham and Anacortes through vessels of the Puget Sound Company, and by Edmonds through the new project.

SALVAGE TUG AT SCENE OF WRECK

Divers to Make Survey to See if Raising of Local Tug Red Fir Is Possible

VANCOUVER, April 12. — Vancouver Drydock & Salvage Company's tug Helac is at the scene of the wreck of the Victoria tug Red Fir, in Lewis Channel. A survey will be made to find out if there is any chance to salvage the vessel. She lies in twenty-five fathoms of water.

According to reports she struck the cliff head on early Wednesday morning, and sank in forty-five minutes. Her superstructure, loosened by the blow, floated off when she went down, and it is believed her forefoot is shattered.

SHARKS, PRESSURE THREATEN DIVERS

Underwater Workers Must Have Sound Heart and Lungs—Caisson Disease Is Menace

Every descent by a diver to the sea floor is an adventure into the unknown. Taking a "dip" in a home seaport may be comparatively safe, but when he is crawling about the bottom a hundred feet below the surface in the Tropics, or where there are bad currents running, danger stands always at his elbow. So strenuous is the work that only the man who is perfectly fit is permitted to engage in it. Above all, his heart and lungs must be absolutely sound, writes a diver in The London Daily Mail.

The diver's dress is weighted heavily with lead, and on his back and his breast are slung 40-lb. weights. Each of his boots carries 18 lbs. of the same metal. He must not go down too quickly when descending to any great depth. Nor must he come up too quickly, for that might be fatal.

After a diver has spent twenty minutes at the bottom in about sixty feet of water he returns to the surface by stages. He stays five minutes at thirty feet, five minutes at twenty feet and ten minutes at ten feet on his way up. The reason for this is that as a result of having air pumped to him at high pressure, while working in deep water the diver's blood becomes aerated—full of bubbles like soda water. If he ascends too quickly he gets caisson disease, or "diver's head," as it is termed, and the chances are that he will die of it.

Should a diver be obliged to rise quickly from a deep "dip," the party attending upon him seize him as he comes to the surface and push him head first, dress and all, into a big cylinder known as a recompression chamber. In this the diver lies prone while the air pressure is regulated as it would have been had he come up by easy stages and his blood brought back to normal. The recompression chamber is the antidote to caisson disease.

In shark-infested waters divers go armed with a knife. But sharks are not the worse enemies. To keep them away from a diver small explosive charges are fired in the water around him by means of electricity. Far worse than sharks are the swordfish. These are bad tempered and courageous fighters, dangerous opponents for a diver to meet with. Ugliest of all is a flesh-eating fish met with in South American waters and which go for anything.

Of all the mishaps that may occur to him what a diver most dreads is being turned upside down by a displacement of air inside his dress and having to return to the surface feet foremost.

France is taking a census of those who use its highways.

Seal of Pioneer Railroad

A WAX impression of the seal of one of Canada's oldest railroads, opened in 1850 on the north shore of the St. Lawrence, thirty-five miles from Montreal, has been presented to the archives of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Lanoraie & Industrie Railroad, called the "Compagnie du Chemin a Rails du St. Laurent et du Village d'Industrie," ran between the two villages named—the village of Industrie afterwards becoming the town of Joliette—and was consolidated with other newer lines under the system of the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1881. The line was one of the first of railroad days and as a unit of the Canadian Pacific Railway gives that line a place in history more remote than is generally realized. The seal was presented to the archives by Mr. John Loye, of the Montreal Numismatic and Antiquarian Society.

OCEAN AIRSHIP IS LUXURIOUS

DANCING, DECK GAMES WILL FEATURE LIFE ON NEW BRITISH DIRIGIBLE

Dining Saloon Will Accommodate Fifty Persons at One Sitting —Is Giant Ship

An aviation venture transcending in importance all air enterprises of the past will come with the commissioning of the British transatlantic dirigible R-100 this Summer. This giant vessel, and her sister ship, the latter being built by the British Admiralty, are to use Canada's mooring mast, which is being erected at St. Hubert, on the outskirts of Montreal, as the Canadian terminus of the transatlantic service.

The R-100 now is being completed at Howden Airdrome, England. The ship will undergo her first air trials in June and is expected to cross the Atlantic carrying passengers and mail before September. She is twice the bulk of the Shenandoah or Los Angeles, and the only airship in existence of suitable size or strength to carry passengers commercially on the transatlantic route. She is designed to carry a crew of forty-three, ten tons of freight and 100 passengers.

FIRST OF 150

While of great size, this airship is about the minimum size that can be used for commercial transatlantic flights, and is merely the forerunner of a fleet of 150 passenger ships, her British backers say. Commander C. Dennis Burney, M.P., who is the designer of the R-100, has discussed with President Coolidge and Secretary Hoover the carrying of American transatlantic mail by airship.

The R-100 will cross the Atlantic on the easterly trip in forty-eight hours and westerly in sixty hours. The later and larger ships will require only thirty-six hours east and forty-eight hours west. Commander Burney is now in America conducting negotiations for the dirigible's builders. It has been proposed that of the remainder of the fleet, half be built in the United States and half in England.

OFFICIALLY TESTED

When completed the R-100 will be tested by the British Admiralty and given an air worthiness certificate. The United States has agreed to lend Lakehurst Airship Station for the mooring of the R-100 on her first transatlantic flight.

Luxury marks the passenger equipment of the R-100. There is a combination dining saloon and lounge in which fifty persons can be served meals at one time. A staircase connects the ship's three floor levels with the control car, below.

RICH CARPETS

All furniture and fittings have been designed to provide luxurious comfort with minimum weight. The ship's structural frame, of aluminum alloy, is covered in the lounge with mahogany veneer. The floors are of five-ply veneer, richly carpeted.

There are two promenade decks, one on each side of the ship. They permit lounging, deck games, and dancing. There are lounge facilities also on the upper communication deck. Observation windows are built into the hull. The wall structure is two layers of specially made fireproof fabric, providing sound-proof stateroom partitions.

C.P.R. Changes Arrival Day of Empress Liners

Beginning with the arrival of the Empress of Asia on June 16, Canadian Pacific liners will dock at this port from the Orient on Saturdays, instead of on Sundays as at present.

On April 26 the Empress of Asia, due here on Sunday from Orient ports, will sail for the Orient again, inaugurating a system of Thursday instead of Saturday sailings. Sailings will follow every third Thursday after April 26.

Vancouver Office

The American Mail Line has opened an office in Vancouver. The line succeeds the former Canadian Robert Dollar Company, Limited, and the office will be in charge of Mr. C. Ballard, general agent. Mr. George F. Wales has been appointed district freight and passenger agent and Capt. D. W. Clinton port captain. The offices remain in the British Columbia Mining Building.

"I got a bottle and after taking a couple of doses felt much relieved and when I had finished it my cold had simply disappeared."

Empress Liner Brings World Tour to Close

NEW YORK, April 12.—Completing her 28,000-mile cruise around the world, during which she visited eighteen countries and twenty-seven ports, the Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Australia, docked today at New York, from which port she sailed on December 2 last.

She was carrying 320 passengers, including Lady Frederick Williams-Taylor and Hugh Paton, Edson Pease and Albert Brown of this city, and the Earl and Countess of Pembroke and Montgomery.

Lady Williams-Taylor, interviewed on her cruise impressions, said: "We were thrilled by the magnificence of the scenes in India, and despite the unrest that is prevalent in China we had no difficulty in traveling in that country. We visited Canton, which has since witnessed hard fighting. Ceylon proved culturally and industrially aggressive, but has lost none of its old-time charm. We lotus-eating tourists must now return to the realities of everyday existence."

ISKUM BATTLES NORTHERN GALE

Seattle Motorship, Thirty Days Overdue, Now in Port—Gasboat Is Driven Ashore

UNALASKA, Alaska, April 12.—With the return of the motorship Iskum and the gasboat Vis No. 2, reports were brought here of a terrific storm that swept the Bering Sea recently.

While anchored at Atka, 300 miles west of here in the Aleutian chain, the Vis was dragged on the rocks by a sudden change of weather and sunk up to her pilothouse. Fourteen days later the craft was taken off and with two men busy at the pumps was taken to Unalaska.

The Iskum, which arrived here Tuesday, thirty days overdue, brought stories of giant swells of from forty to sixty feet high. Two of her cylinders broke down when she was forced to keep on full power during the heavy weather.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 16.6 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees Drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

ARTIST PLEASES SHIP TRAVELERS

Empress of Australia Round-the-World Passengers Provided With Sketches on Shipboard

One of the most novel features of the round-the-world cruise of the Empress of Australia, which ended at New York yesterday, was the production and distribution to the passengers of scores of sketches prepared by Mr. M. DeMuth, ship's artist.

Most artistically arranged calendars, cartoons, maps, informative sketches and drawings of scenes at various ports where the ship called, were the products of Mr. DeMuth's clever pencil.

The sketches, called "memograms or pictorial memoranda," were run off the presses aboard the ship in quick order. Sometimes a thousand copies of a sketch were in the hands of the passengers within an hour of the time the drawing was started.

The same procedure is a feature also of the South American and South African cruise of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France.

Mr. L. D. Chetham, district passenger agent here for the company, has a most interesting collection of the sketches, forwarded to him by Mr. DeMuth.

EMMA ALEXANDER IN FROM SOUTH

After a fast passage up the coast from San Francisco, the Emma Alexander, of the Pacific Steamship Company's fleet, docked at the Rithet Consolidated piers at 9 o'clock last night, an hour ahead of schedule. Sixty-five passengers disembarked from the vessel at this port and sixty tons of cargo were put ashore before the Emma sailed for Puget Sound ports.

ESTHER DOLLAR LOADS LUMBER

The freighter Esther Dollar is loading lumber at Nanoose Bay, according to word received here yesterday by King Brothers.

The Yamashita Line freighter Wales Maru was reported by King Brothers as due to pass up to the Mainland from Everett early this morning.

DONALDSON LINER ARRIVES IN PORT

Inbound from the United Kingdom, the Donaldson Line freighter Kastalia docked at the Rithet Consolidated piers at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. After discharging about eighty tons of freight here the vessel sailed for Vancouver at 1:30 p.m.

P. A. O'CONNOR TO BE EXTRADITED

VANCOUVER, April 12.—Under a warrant, signed by the Minister of Justice, Patrick A. O'Connor, Roman Catholic priest, has been removed from the city jail to the Oakalla prison farm, pending the arrival from Alabama, of W. K. McAdory, chief law enforcement officer for the state.

McAdory has been notified by Oscar Orr, counsel for Alabama in the protracted extradition contest waged by O'Connor, that the accused can now be taken back for trial on the illegal operation charge on which he was arrested here nearly eight months ago.

The liner will probably dock at the Rithet Consolidated piers at about 7 a.m.

There are 559 passengers aboard the Asia in all classes. Prominent among the travelers are Justice and Mrs. B. Finley Johnson, of Manila, en route to Palo Alto, California; Mr. E. L. Northampton Man Father Of Twenty-Five Children

His Clothes Cut Down for His Younger Sons While He Dresses in Outgrown Garb of His Older Boys

NORTHAMPTON, Eng.—Charles Henry Masters revealed to me today the secret of how to bring up a family of thirty children. I saw him at his home in St. Andrew's Street, Northampton.

At fifty-four years of age he is the father of twenty-five children and stepfather to five more. He has seventeen grandchildren. He has never weighed more than seven stone.

This was Mr. Master's story:

"I was married when I was 19, and we had a new baby every year for twenty-five years. My first wife died after the nineteenth child, but within seven months I married again, so that the twentieth baby came without my missing a year. Only five were boys. Sixteen of my twenty-five are living today.

"It's in the family, this birth-rate. I am one of twenty-nine, but I am the only one who inherited the complaint. My present wife's mother was married at thirteen and had nineteen children.

"Seven of my children are now married, and so far there are seventeen grandchildren, the eldest of whom is two years older than my youngest child, who is only eight.

HOW THEY ARE FED

"There were never more than fifteen children in the family at any one time; but that was more than we had room for at the dinner table. Three or four would have to sit on the stairs.

"In those days they slept about five in a bed. Every night before my wife and I went to sleep we would have to go and count them, because sometimes we couldn't tell which was which, and sometimes two or three would have strayed off to neighbors' houses.

"It has always been a bit of a job for us to make clothes. Five children, of course, cost more than one, but ten don't cost twice as much as five."

Mrs. Masters, who was busy at her sewing machine with a large Christmas order of leather cushions for a department store, broke in here.

"I make over all their clothes three or four times. Frocks, pinafores, petticoats, trousers—I either tuck them up or let them down.

"I tuck up a lightweight dress in Winter for one of the little girls, and let it down in Summer for one of the big ones. And now that some of our sons are grown so big, I make over their coats and waistcoats for their father. He's only half their size."

RESUMES STORY

Mr. Masters then took up his story again:

"And ever since I worked in the shoe factory I have made over their shoes. I can put a big cap and a big vamp on a small shoe and make a large one out of it. Or I sometimes put a small sole on a big vamp, to make a small shoe.

"But I always say to my wife, 'never mind about their clothes. Give 'em a good dinner. Keep 'em healthy.' You can find a new dress or a new coat any old time, but you can't get a new inside!"

"They do get a good dinner, too," explained Mrs. Masters.

"The best thing for them is a meat pudding. I buy twopennyworth of beef, one pennyworth of liver, one pennyworth of suet, a halfpenny-worth of onions, and twopennyworth of flour. That makes one big pudding. Many a time I've made six at once, before the older children married off.

"For dessert they get currant pudding, or sweet dip—melted butter and sugar. Then they all go to bed happy.

"Every Saturday afternoon I go into town with my market basket. That's the only outing I take.

DOCTOR'S "FEE"

"Some of our children might not have lived but for always having a doctor whenever we needed him by paying a shilling a month to the dispensary.

"Once we had seven children down with the 'flu' at the same time for a whole month. That doctor earned his shilling!

"Another time four were taken with measles, and two of them were lost."

Mr. Masters then revealed one of the trials of a large family.

"When I was a market gardener my wife and I had to take five of the children, from two to seven years old, with us. One or two would always stray away.

"Finally we gave up trying to hold all five around our stall, and when the market closed, and some of the youngsters were missing, we just went to the police station. They were always there, playing with the cat, or eating sweets."

$1,000 DROPPED IN BOX

W. R. Cummins, of the Salvation Army, is becoming known in London as the "King of Collectors," because of the large sums he is gathering for the Army Self-Denial Fund through a huge collection box outside his shop. Within the last twelve months he has collected nearly $1,000 through the box.

Two actors who were very jealous of each other met in a hostelry. They exchanged frigid nods.

"How are you getting along?" asked one, presently.

"Pretty well," replied the other. "Still keeping alive."

The first man eyed his rival steadily for a second and then asked, casually, "What's your motive?"

"Last year's—but Tintex will color it new again!"

TINTEX means true economy! It gives twice as much finery at one half the cost! For faded things are quickly made new and colorful again with Tintex. No need, then, to be continually buying new finery. And how simple! With light and medium shades you just "tint as you rinse"—in hot or cold water. Use Tintex for silk stockings, "undies," dresses, sportswear—even curtains. See Fashion's colors on the Tintex Color Card.

Peer Is Champion Boxer and Hurdler

VISCOUNT Knebworth defeats police champion. Young Viscount Knebworth, son and heir of the Earl of Lytton and descendant of the novelist, Bulwer Lytton, proved recently that knighthood is still in flower in the Old Land when, before a large crowd of enthusiastic spectators, he outfought Police Constable Bone, a powerful young "Bobby," who is champion of "K" Division, London Metropolitan Police. The policeman was unable to avoid the smashing blows of the young aristocrat's left, which continually found contact with his head. Viscount Knebworth won renown at Oxford as a boxer and was also a leader in other forms of sport. The above photograph shows him winning the 120-yard hurdle race while attending Eton College.

PEACE SUPPORTER NO LONE CRUSADER

League of Nations Society in Canada Seeks Membership of 100,000

OTTAWA, April 12. — Tuesday, April 17, has been named "League of Nations Day" in the Dominion, and the League of Nations Society in Canada, in connection with a drive for 100,000 "dollar members" has issued the following appeal:

"There was a time when supporters of peace movements were considered fanatics, and 'cranks,' and the term 'pacifist' was synonoymous with 'nincompoop' or 'coward.' So estranged did supporters of such ideals become from popular sentiment, and so relatively few were they in number, that it was quite reasonable for them to be regarded as eccentrics.

"The great war, however, has taught the world much. It left a disinclination for further bloodshed, and the certain knowledge that another war under modern conditions would result in as wholesale annihilation as a great plague.

SITUATION ALTERED

"This appreciation of the situation by the world at large has altered the position of the peace supporter. He is no longer a lone crusader. His number is legion. He is no longer humored and condoned as a misdirected enthusiast, but hearkened to and aided, even by military men. His arguments are no longer in the plane of the abstract. He has colossal, indisputable facts to cite from recent events. He has definite and tangible dangers to warn against. He has, above all, something concrete to put forward as a remedy, as an antidote.

"The League of Nations is one of the first efforts towards the maintenance of world peace that has materialized into an effective being and existence. It has stood the test of trial and time, and showed itself capable of taking action and of accomplishing its purposes. It appears to be the only way out of a precarious situation, and a good way at that, and one deserving of and appealing for the support of all men.

ASKS FOR SUPPORT

"The League of Nations Society in Canada is now appealing for the support of all Canadians. Canada, as a nation in the British Commonwealth is a member of the league, which includes fifty-five other great nations of the world. To justify this high honor, Canada's representatives require the united support and understanding of the Canadian nation as a whole.

"The object of the League of Nations Society is to create and mould and organize public opinion in favor of the league—that is its central purpose. The place for that public opinion to crystalize is in the membership of the society. It supplies its members with literature and a monthly magazine giving current and up-to-date information regarding the league. It gives, also, every assistance possible to the clergy and educational authorities in their treatment of that subject."

The present membership of the society in Canada is 6,000.

After 20 years research, Dental Surgeon says:

"Careful observation of patients' mouths over a period of 20 years and constant personal experiment have established a belief that powders are much superior to pastes in their cleansing properties."

There is one right way of doing everything, and Common Sense says that the right way to preserve teeth is to keep the enamel polished. For that is the highest degree of cleanliness.

Veterans Given Permission to Wear Uniform

Permission has been granted by the G.O.C. M.D. 11 for all ex-service men, who so desire, to wear uniform for the "drum head" service, on Sunday.

Arrangements have been made for veterans who parade with their respective militia units to break off and assemble at the memorial with unattached ex-service men for the address of His Excellency the Governor-General.

Decorations will be worn and veterans are urged to turn out.

"Do you believe in giving a man plenty of rope?"

"Well, no, my dear. I did that with my husband and he skipped."

"Will you solemnly swear that the testimony you shall give shall be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth?" "No, I will not swear anything of the kind," answered the man, who had been a witness in several big cases. "The lawyers won't allow me to tell half the truth, let alone the whole."

South is the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

In the next issue Mr. Whitehead will explain the salient points in the bidding and play of the above hand. Fill out your own chart and compare it with his method.

These hands must not be bid or played "Double Dummy," i.e., as though all four hands were exposed.

NOTE—In recording the Auction, or the play, use "S" for Spades, "H" for Hearts, "D" for Diamonds, and "C" for Clubs. Use "NT" for No Trump, "DBL" for double, "REDBL" for redouble.

Salient Points of the Bidding

Dealer opened with a bid of one Club, and successively bid two, three, and four without hearing from his partner. The minimums required for and shown by such bidding are 4, 6, 8, and 10 tricks, respectively; or in other words four tricks for the original bid and two tricks more for each rebid. While South's holding is at best but a 9-trick instead of a 10-trick hand, his overbid to four was fully justified, if but for the four honors held in Clubs. Complementary to the increased requirements for rebids without hearing from partner, the partner's requirements for an assist decrease one trick for each rebid. Starting with the requirement of four tricks for assisting an original bid of one, the number required to assist after three rebids is thus reduced to one trick. Therefore North's raise to five Clubs, holding the Ace of Diamonds, was mathematically sound.

West's Spade holding justified not only an initial bid but also a rebid before showing his Heart suit. East's bid of three Spades over his partner's three Hearts, while apparently a preference bid, would have been justified as an assist has his partner not shown the Heart suit.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 1. Declarer plans to establish and bring in Dummy's Diamonds, and therefore unblocks as a necessary step to the establishment of Dummy's trumps as entries.

Trick 3. With but eight Diamonds in the two hands, the finesse must be taken.

Trick 7.—Dummy is put in to make his remaining Diamonds and then to lead to Declarer's minor Heart tenace.

STOCK OPINIONS

J. S. Bache—The current period of readjustment represents a minor movement in a major upswing and following a rally further readjustments will occur until such time as technical conditions are again sufficiently sound to reinvite renewed aggressive constructive operations.

Hornblower and Weeks—Under the circumstances we would continue a cautious trading attitude for the time being, and, temporarily at least, confine attention to the copper, railroad and oil stocks as far as group issues are concerned.

Whitney Letter

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

"The higher prices, which came as predicted, more than wiped out all of the Tuesday reaction and thus today is in position for additional advance pretty much throughout the list, despite the fact that another statement of brokers' loans and another meeting of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York are scheduled for after the close. While I anticipated another increase in the total of brokers' loans, I do not believe that it will be other than a very moderate increase and one which will not be an adverse market factor on Friday. I am confident there will be no change in the rediscount rate, but on the other hand, that rates for money will continue the discouraging factor around present rates.

"Amn. Republics is brought to a mention again because it is about ready to go into new high territory, and is just double the price at which it was recommended as a long pull oil commitment. Do not believe the advance will be completed until it has added another forty points.

"Amn. Solvents and Chemical pfd. is still a purchase at thirty-five and below for an objective ten points higher. Sears Roebuck has recovered from its initial too violent advance and is headed up again with objective 125.

"Hudson and Manhattan should be bought for advance to seventy-five. Predicted move in Postum should be well under way today. It is realized that such issues as Mathieson Alkali, Union Carbide, N.Y.C., Public Svc. of N.J. and United Gas Improvement are at new highs, but are still not high enough to warrant a profit-taking recommendation. Can. Pac. has been slow, but is still one of the cheapest rails on the list and should be bought under 225. Buy S.O. of Kansas around twenty-five for an advance to thirty-five."

British and U.S. Financiers Form Strong Alliance

LONDON, April 12.—Sir Alfred Mond, head of the Imperial Chemical Industries, announced the formation of a big combine of financial interests of England and the United States.

A new company to be called the Finance Company of Great Britain and America has been formed by the Imperial Chemical Industries, Limited, and a number of leading industrialists and financiers of America, with a capital of approximately $10,200,000.

The common shares will be held in equal proportions by the Imperial Chemical Industries and the Chase Security Corporation, of New York. Sir Alfred will be chairman of the new company.

He said today that the United States combination would probably be unique in the history of financial corporations as it includes the most important leaders of finance and industry in the United States.

The inception of the corporation, he said, had been a necessity, felt for some time by leading men of business in both countries.

Montreal Stock Letter

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

MONTREAL, April 12.—The closing tone of the market for Montreal stocks developed some irregularity on Thursday, but the start was worthy of the best bullish traditions and in keeping with the display of strength in Wall Street, particularly in the first hour. Not only did a few of the speculative favorites move into new high ground, but the movement in the bank stocks, which started with the exceptionally brisk demand for Royal Bank, spread first to the Bank of Montreal and then included a few of the others. Both the leaders went to new high ground. Buying of Royal Bank is stated to have been for American accounts. Dominion Bridge and Brazilian were among the first to reach new high ground; later in the day Porto Rico, which was in demand, reached a new high of 131. The street expects that this stock will be included in the Canada Power and Paper merger.

Frazer continued a strong favorite and there was a good deal of attention paid Shawinigan Power, the demand for that stock as well as Quebec Power being active with firm prices.

Buying of Industrial Alcohol continued a feature, and while there have been reports of some kind of a distillery consolidation it is claimed that the company's earnings at the present time constitute a strong bullish argument without other support.

Textile and Winnipeg Electric, which have been quiet for some time past, received sufficient attention to strengthen their prices.

While Steel of Canada quieted down to a marked extent and eased slightly, its action was better than might have been expected in view of the denial by insiders of any knowledge of developments which would explain the recent buying, other than purely speculative ideas based on rumors.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, April 12. — The market for raw sugar was quiet and easy. There were reports that 7,000 bags of Philippines had been sold in port to a local refiner at 4.49 delivered, equal to 2 5-8 cents, and 14,000 bags of Cuban afloat to a local refiner at a refinery at 2.21-32, equal to 4.43 delivered, and 4,500 bags of Cuban for prompt shipment to an operator at 2.21-32, C.C. and F.

New buying in the refined sugar market continued quiet, and prices were unchanged at 5.95 to 6.00 for fine granulated. Withdrawals were fair.

"How was the scenery on your trip?"

"Well, it ran to smoking tobacco and toothpaste, mostly."

Who Shall Broadcast?

OTTAWA, April 12.—"In view of the development in recent times of broadcasting, and having regard to the seemingly unsatisfactory conditions now obtaining," Mr. Cardin, Minister of Marine, today in the House said, "the Government is giving consideration to the question of whether or not it would be generally advantageous to adopt a policy of national broadcasting along the lines adopted in this repect by the British Government."

The evidence with respect to the Bible Students' Association indicated that its broadcasting was not approved by the general public, and it had, therefore, been decided to discontinue the licences.

SERVICE CLUBS IN BIG FROLIC

Water Sports at Crystal Garden Under Auspices of Gyros Prove Laughable Success

Service Clubs' night at the Crystal Garden yesterday, under the auspices of the Gyro Club and other service bodies, proved an enjoyable affair, clubmen present throwing convention to the winds and entering the various water sports with boyish enthusiasm.

The tub races were a source of great amusement as the unstable craft were hand-propelled from one side of the tank to the other. Several tubs and their occupants foundered a few feet from port as the storm tossed wavelets dashed over their rims. Mr. Frank Burton made the best time over the course, while Mr. Harold B. Elworthy was a close second in the Burrard Chief.

Canoe races, sans paddles, from one end of the tank and back, ended several times in a deadlock when engine-room signals were confused and the vessels collided. Music from the Crystal Garden orchestra echoed over the scintillating water as the canoes dashed up and down the tank. There was only one mishap when the crew of one was overturned nearing the finishing post.

Following the exhibitions of hand navigation, the clubmen vied with each other to see who could perpetrate the most comical dive. Although many of them entered the water with resounding slaps and with arms and legs in every direction, Mr. Fred Whiteside caused the most laughter and took first prize with the "Whiteside Wobble."

A ham tied to a greasy pole proved a difficult feat for the clubmen, very few of them succeeding in getting close to the bait. After herculean struggles, Mr. Arthur Minnis reached the pork and dived for shore with thoughts of breakfast ham for many weeks to come. No prizes were awarded for the centipede race as contesting teams fouled each other twice.

Mr. Noel Collinson proved to be the fastest swimmer present during the free-for-all fifty-yard swim. The waters were churned to white foam as the clubmen struggled for the service clubs' championship indoor swim.

After the water events, supper was served downstairs, the chair being occupied by Mr. A. W. Trevett, president of the Gyro Club. Mr. B. C. Nicholas, who gave a short talk, and Mr. Thomas McCafferty, chairman of the sports committee, were tendered hearty votes of thanks.

DRUG SENTENCES

VANCOUVER, April 12.—Two Chinese were given heavy sentences today by Police Magistrate H. C. Shaw when they pleaded guilty to charges laid under the Drug Act. Chin Sing, who admitted the possession of morphine and cocaine, was sent to the penitentiary for three years and fined $500, a previous record for similar offences counting against him.

Wong Leung, charged with distributing narcotics, was sentenced to two years and fined $200.

THE COMPANY: CANADA NORTHERN POWER CORPORATION, LIMITED, was incorporated under the laws of the Dominion of Canada in 1924. On completion of present financing it will own all the outstanding mortgage bonds, notes and obligations, of its subsidiary companies amounting to $13,350,000. It will own also all the outstanding shares of:

Northern Canada Power, Limited
Northern Ontario Light & Power Company, Limited
Northern Quebec Power Company, Limited
Great Northern Power Corporation, Limited
Porcupine Power and Telephone Company, Limited excepting:

10% of the common shares of Northern Canada Power Limited,
6¼% of the common shares, and 76% of the preferred shares of Northern Ontario Light & Power Company, Limited,
1% of the common shares of Great Northern Power Corporation, Limited.

These companies own and operate nine hydro-electric developments and the electric lighting systems in the towns of Cobalt, Englehart, Haileybury, Kirkland Lake, New Liskeard, Noranda, North Cobalt, Porcupine, Rouyn, Schumacher, Silver Center, South Porcupine, Swastika, and Timmins. Through a subsidiary the Company owns and operates a pulp mill on Lake Temiskaming, with a daily capacity of 40 tons of groundwood pulp, and a 60-square-mile timber limit in the Province of Quebec.

PROPERTIES: The plants of the companies are located on the Mattagami, Montreal and Matabitchouan Rivers in Ontario, and on the Quinze River in Quebec. They have an ultimate capacity of 123,000 h.p. and a present installation capable of developing more than 100,000 h.p. The Quinze plant with a present installed capacity of 40,000 h.p., may be increased to 60,000 h.p. at a relatively low cost, as a great part of the permanent construction has already been completed. The transmission system at present consists of 568 miles of high-tension lines. The distribution system includes 105 miles of line, together with equipment necessary to serve the municipalities mentioned above. Electrical merchandise stores are operated at Cobalt, Englehart, Haileybury, Kirkland Lake, New Liskeard, Rouyn, South Porcupine and Timmins.

SECURITY: The plants and equipment of the constituent companies have a book value of over $28,000,000. These Bonds, in the opinion of the Counsel, will be secured specifically by deposit with the Trustee of bonds, notes and shares of the subsidiary companies, thus making them in effect a first charge against the properties of such subsidiaries. They will be further secured by a floating charge on all other assets of the company now owned or heareafter acquired.

EARNINGS: The consolidated net earnings of the constituent companies available for bond interest as certified to by Messrs. P. S. Ross & Sons, for the year ending December 31st, 1927, before providing for depreciation and income tax, but after allowing for the present minority stock interests, amounted to $1,876,949, or equal to 2.5 times the annual interest charges of $750,000 on this issue.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of this issue will be used to retire all the present outstanding bonds of the constituent companies, other than those pledged with the Trustee as specific security for these bonds.

COVENANTS OF THE COMPANY: The Company covenants that it will not vote any of the shares of any of the subsidiary companies pledged under the Trust Deed for the purpose of authorizing the issue of any obligations having priority over notes pledged as collateral for these bonds, except to the Company. The total amount of bonds that may at any time be issued is limited to $50,000,000. Bonds in excess of $17,000,000 may be issued only in amounts not exceeding in the aggregate 80% of the actual cash cost or fair value, whichever is less, of property or securities acquired by the Company, and then only when net earnings of the Company and its subsidiaries for twelve consecutive months out of the preceding fourteen months are at least one and three-quarters times the annual interest on all bonds issued and to be issued.

SINKING FUND: A Sinking Fund will be created, which it is estimated will retire over 50% of the Series "A" Bonds by maturity.

POWER MARKET: The territory served includes all the important mining areas and towns in Northeastern Ontario and Northwestern Quebec. Electric power is supplied to the gold and copper mines in Porcupine, Kirkland Lake, Larder Lake, Boston Creek and Rouyn; and to the silver mines at Cobalt, South Lorrain and Gowganda. The expansion of the territory has been accompanied by a growing demand for power and the kilowatt hour output has increased 51% from 1924 to 1927. Northeastern Ontario is one of the most important mineral fields in the world, and discoveries in Northwestern Quebec indicate a very successful future for this field as well. The demand for power is expected to show continued growth. In addition to its mineral wealth, the territory is rich in timber resources, the development of which is creating a further demand for hydro-electric power.

MANAGEMENT: The operations of the Company and of its subsidiaries are carried out under the supervision of Power Corporation of Canada, Limited.

All orders will be received subject to the approval of the proceedings by Counsel and to the issue and sale of the bonds as planned. The right is reserved to reject any application, and also, in any case, to allot a smaller amount than applied for.

These bonds are offered as, if and when issued and received by us, and subject to prior sale and the conditions stated above.

Price: 98½ and accrued interest, to yield over 5.10%

PROFIT-TAKING LOWERS PRICES BEFORE CLOSE

Long List of Net Declines and Smaller Number of Gains—Increase in Broker's Loans

RAILS YIELD MORE THAN INDUSTRIALS

NEW YORK, April 12.—Heavy profit-taking sales, induced in part by fears of another huge increase in brokers' loans, checked a promising rally in prices in today's stock market. Final quotations were irregularly lower, a long list of net declines ranging from one to nine points being offset by a smaller number of gains running from one to six points.

Total sales crossed the four million mark for the fourth consecutive full session. The market opened with such an outburst of strength that it looked for a time as though prices would go "through the roof."

The first sale of United States Steel common was a block of 35,000 shares at 153½-154, the top price representing an overnight gain of four points and a new high record, but it slipped back to 149¾ later, and rebounded to 151 at the close. General Motors opened with a block of 15,000 shares at 198-197½, touched 198¼, slumped to 194 and rallied to 195¾, off ¼ net.

Nearly three score individual issues attained new high levels, the list including representatives of the steel, motor, oil, merchandising, public utility, traction, food, railroad, motor accessory and copper groups.

U.S. Cast Iron Pipe dropped from an opening price of 279 to 261¼, off 8½ net, and Radio broke from 176⅞ to 168⅛, and then rebounded to 170, off 7½ net.

Rails yielded even more than the industrials, with Pere Marquette breaking four points and Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, Pittsburgh & West Virginia and several others two points or more.

VANCOUVER EXCHANGE

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

VANCOUVER, April 12.—Kootenay Florence and Premier continued to hold the interest on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today, but in spite of a good demand for the stock, the former lost ground, closing 2¾ cents lower at 32 cents on a turnover of 29,000 shares. Premier, on a smaller turnover, touched a high of $2.40, closing at $2.35, unchanged from Wednesday, although the last sale went through at $2.38. Porter-Idaho, controlled by Premier, was weak, closing 8 cents lower at 55 cents. Price changes, as a rule, were lower throughout the list.

Pend Oreille moved within a fairly narrow range on a small turnover, closing at $21.10, a net loss of 40 cents. On sales of 12,000 shares, Grandview eased off 1 cent to 61 cents. Big Missouri was traded in to the extent of 7,800 shares, the fluctuation being narrow and the close unchanged at 61 cents.

Golconda improved 3 cents to 88 cents; Cork Province, 1 cent to 41 cents, and Woodbine, 3 cents to 43 cents. Sunloch was 10 cents lower at $3.40; Whitewater, 3 cents lower at $2.50, and Dalhousie Oil, 5 cents lower at $2.80. Home Oil, which weakened to $2 during the morning, closed at $2.20, up 10 cents.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, April 12.—Apparently some of the larger flour buyers who have been working on a hand-to-mouth basis all year have been taking notice of the recent advance and of the April government report, and have begun to buy flour. It is not at all general yet, but very possibly may become so. Any demand of this character is quickly reflected in the market because milling stocks of wheat are generally hedged in the pits instead of in forward sales of flour and the removal of hedges takes out that which will not come back.

We called attention a while back to the fact that May wheat was taking excursions into the field above 140¼ which has been midpoint of the season's swing. Unless we mistake the attitude abroad, every temporary setback will find brisk export demand for our neighbor to the North, which will encourage buying our future deliveries.

Corn: By the first of May there should be some move by the tariff commission, which has for a long time been looking into the comparative costs at home and abroad.

Profit-taking by longs seem to see greater possibilities in wheat is responsible for reactionary market tendency.

New York Stock Letter

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, April 12.—The bulge in values attracted liberal selling, under which the market turned reactionary. Steel and General Motors were the early features advancing on a heavy turnover, but they attracted heavy offerings and the main body of stocks trended with the market leaders.

While the main body of stocks were in supply and recent issues, such as Wright Aero., Radio, Greene Cananea were more freely offered, local public utilities shares, General Electric, Moon Motors and Corn Products were among those in special demand and gave a good account of themselves.

The money rate was easier today. Renewing and ruling at five per cent throughout the day but uncertainty over the action to be taken late this afternoon on the New York rediscount rate accounted for heavy selling, especially in the late afternoon. There undoubtedly has been a good-sized load placed on the market of late, especially in the industrial section of the list in the form of distribution. We would be more disposed to reduce long holdings at favorable opportunities in sections where protracted upturns have been registered.

Winnipeg Grain

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, April 12.—Wheat: While trade volume was not as large as on Wednesday, the wheat market continued to show a very strong undertone, and prices, after being fractionally lower during the first period, gradually crept up until they were about 1¼ cents higher than yesterday's close. There were slight reactions from top levels, but good support developed on all recessions. Export sales of Manitobas yesterday were estimated close to two million bushels but overnight sales were quite moderate, the foreigner not being willing to follow the full bulge on this side, and bids were said to be about one cent out of line. Seaboard houses were buying on the dips, but realizing sales were quite heavy at times, especially late in the day, and the market did not take it very well, prices declining until all of the earlier gains were lost. The pool sold a little wheat on the scale up.

The cash market was very dull with the demand poor. Spreads on the lower grades were one-half to one cent lower, while the toughs were also weaker. Spreads on the three top grades were unchanged. The weather in Western Canada remains cold with temperatures last night close to the zero mark at many points. Work on the land has barely started, but this is not causing any apprehension in spite of the fact that prices have had a good advance. We think the foundation for a continuing bull market is firmly laid, and that any change in growing crop conditions for the worse will be an additional stimulant to the already strong market. Winnipeg futures closed ¼ up in the old crop months, but ⅝ lower in October.

Coarse grains: There was a poor demand today for oats, barley and rye, and with scattered liquidation in evidence, prices worked sharply lower. Oats closed ⅞ to ⅝ lower, barley ⅞ to ¼ lower, and rye ¼ to 1⅛ lower in the old crop months, and ¼ higher for October.

Flax: This market showed more strength today than other commodities, closing 1 cent to ⅝ higher. Trade was small on pressure, but a little more interest was shown by crushers.

Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Limited
6% First Mortgage Bonds, due 1948
Eight years ago, when Famous Players Canadian Corporation was organized, it controlled 16 motion picture theatres with a total seating capacity of 15,000. Its growth since then has been both substantial and profitable. The Company now owns, leases, controls or is affiliated with 123 theatres, with a total seating capacity of approximately 140,000, in leading cities from Montreal to Victoria; and is by far the predominating factor in the operation of motion picture theatres throughout Canada. Its gross earnings have increased from $2,000,000 in 1921 to more than $6,000,000 in 1927.
Among the attractive features of the Company's business, from the investor's standpoint, are that its principal assets are represented by centrally situated city real estate and properties, and that earning power is not subject to undue fluctuation due to changing economic conditions in any particular city or territory.
As against the $5,000,000 of 6% First Mortgage Bonds which we now offer, the Company's balance sheet shows assets at a conservative value of $9,673,713, after deducting depreciation and outstanding mortgages. Franchises, contracts, leaseholds, etc., carried at a value of $6,114,539, are not included in these assets, although approximately 40% of the Company's profits last year were derived from leasehold properties.
The Company's average annual earnings, two years and five months ended January 28th, 1928, available for bond interest, were equivalent to 3.61 times the yearly interest requirement of these bonds.

Four Couples May Seek Famous Flitch of Bacon

Committee of Metchosin Farmer's Institute Decides on May 18 at Luxton for Fateful Connubial Test

The committee of the Metchosin Farmers' Institute, charged with making arrangements for the holding of a ceremony similar to the one held at intervals, at Dunmow, England, since the thirteenth century, met Thursday noon in Spencer's luncheon room, with Mr. C. E. Whitney-Griffiths in the chair, to formulate plans of procedure. It was decided to hold the ceremony on Friday evening, May 18, at Luxton Hall. It was arranged for a start to limit entry to happily married couples residing in the south end of Vancouver Island. The jury is to be composed of six maidens and six bachelors. There will be a judge known as the grand prior, keeper of the records, pleaders for the applicants and a public defending counsel.

These gentlemen, all of them members of the legal profession, have kindly offered their services. The applicants for the flitch will be selected, and limited to four couples. The flitch of bacon is being specially smoked and cured for this event by a well-known firm in Victoria.

It was decided to charge admission to the ceremony and provide free refreshments and a dance afterwards. The flitch of bacon, it may be mentioned, is a whole of one side minus the shoulder and ham.

The committee wishes to localize the event for a commencement, and if successful, hopes to add dignity and importance to the ceremony, which will most likely be an annual one hereafter.

EASIER WAY TO PLATEAU FOUND

COURTENAY MOUNTAINEERING CLUB DISCOVERS ROUTE FREE FROM OBSTACLES

Work to Be Concentrated on New Trail and Suitable Site Chosen for Cabin

COURTENAY, April 11.—An important discovery has been made. A much easier route has been found into the Forbidden Plateau. This may seem strange to the man on the street, yet anyone who knows the ruggedness of the hinterland, knows how extremely difficult it is, owing to the dense forest, to see the most accessible way into a certain locality. Members of the Courtenay Mountaineering Club have just traversed a route with practically a uniform grade, and no bad stretch at the start, which has hitherto taken so much out of the pack ponies. It is also one with a very welcome absence of the dangerous rock climbs, which were particularly hazardous to the pack animals.

Instead of making Bevan the starting point, with the handicap of swimming the horses across the river and negotiating the difficult suspension bridge with saddles and packs, the new trail will go in by way of Dove Creek. The first few miles of this trail were made last year by the E. & N. cruising and survey party. Goose Lakes, the headwaters of Brown's River, the source of Courtenay's water supply, are thus reached in practically the same distance over a much easier grade.

In future it is intended to concentrate all work on this trail. The cabin which the Mountaineering Club had contemplated building on the old trail will not now be constructed, but a suitable site will be chosen on the new route. When this location is agreed upon, it is probable that members will form a work bee for the purpose of erecting a permanent cabin which can be used as a base for those undertaking to climb Mount Albert Edward or to go on excursions of discovery into this huge unexplored area with its magnificently diversified scenery.

Mothers' Union Meets At Shawnigan Lake

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, April 12.—The quarterly meeting of the Shawnigan Lake Mothers' Union took place in the S.L.A.A. Hall on Tuesday, April 10. Rev. C. Cropper, of Victoria, was the speaker. There was a good attendance of members. Mr. Cropper took as his subject, "The Return of Spring," comparing the sun and rain and other forces of nature with the various helps we may obtain in the growth of our spiritual life. Mr. Cropper closed with an appeal to all members of the Mothers' Union for regular Bible reading, and urged that membership in the Scripture Union would be a great help towards this object.

Shawnigan Sending Choir to Festival

SHAWNIGAN, April 12.—Shawnigan will be represented at the Victoria Musical Festival by a choir from the rural school which has been trained by Miss Lonsdale. It is not expected that they will bring back any trophy, but the effort made by Miss Lonsdale, by the children, and by Miss Wootton, accompanist, is considered a great gain to the community. The children are being given the chance to hear all of Friday afternoon's programme, and will have tea with the other competitors at the close.

Girls' Sewing Club Dance at Union Bay

UNION BAY, April 12.—A very successful dance was held here last night, arranged by the Girls' Sewing Club, to assist the funds for the annual Summer camp. Arrangements were in the hands of Miss Laura Brown, the vice-president, who was assisted by Miss Magnone, secretary-treasurer. Music was supplied by Mr. J. Walker's Melody Four orchestra, comprising Messrs. Walker, McLennan and Frelone.

At a certain school a teacher was busy telling her class the difference between invention and discovery. After the lesson was over she asked if the pupils had anything to ask.

One boy only held up his hand, and when the teacher asked what his question was, he said: "Please, ma'am, was the North Pole an invention or a discovery?"

HEALTH INJURED BY SUPERSTITION

Montreal Health League Director Traces History of False Beliefs

MONTREAL, April 11.—Laziness is the cause of much superstition in regard to health, Dr. A. Grant Fleming, medical director of the Montreal Health League and director of the Department of Public Health and Preventive Medicine, McGill University, said in an address on "Health Superstitions" at the Columbus Forum recently. In this regard he said that personal health could not be purchased with money. It could only be purchased with the expenditure of time taken from work or pleasure. For many it was much easier to take a bottle of patent medicine than to walk a mile each day.

Dr. Fleming gave an interesting history of the health superstitions dating back to medieval times. In the old days superstitions were much greater than today because of the lack of medical science. When a plague swept over the people in those years, they believed that some curse had been placed upon them by an unknown nemesis. The medieval physicians used to study the planets in order to diagnose the cases of their patients. They were ignorant as to medical science, and depended a good deal on sorcery for a cure. There was a particularly strong belief that the stars had some connection with disease.

The North American Indian, Dr. Fleming said, believed that he was surrounded by spirits, good and bad, and there was also the belief in the evil eye and witchcraft.

SYMBOLS OF LUCK

Even today, he added, there are many who believe that carrying a potato in the pocket or wearing a horseshoe ring will cure rheumatism. Others carry camphor bags around their necks, believing that these would ward off disease. The rabbit's foot, as a symbol of luck, was another foolish superstition, he said.

When vaccination was first used in 1798, great progress began to develop in medical science. Previously in 1613 William Harvey announced the discovery of the circulation of blood.

The group of people who oppose vaccination in general, he said, deny the germ theory and therefore brush aside the use of vaccines, anti-toxins and other sera for the prevention and cure of disease. No one, he added, questioned the right of any individual to think for himself and arrive at his own conclusions. However, it stood to reason that no one could be a specialist in all things. It seemed reasonable, therefore, to say that when those who had devoted their lives to the study of a subject were in practically unanimous agreement, one should hesitate in opposing their judgment unless one had given as much time and study to it as they had.

Certain health superstitions work a great hardship on children, Dr. Fleming said. Many parents believed that their children should contract every contagious disease and took it as a matter of course instead of taking precautions to prevent illness. Because of these diseases many children were permanently affected and the death rate was high. Deafness, impaired eyesight, and other infirmities were often carried through life as the result of a child's early illness, he said. Children under five years of age should have particular attention, because it was below this age that the death rate was the highest.

WRONG FEEDING

Another superstition among mothers was that their babies should be fed every time they cried. This was wrong, he said. They should only be fed at regular intervals each day. It did the baby no harm to cry, but it did harm to feed him at every outbreak. Heavy feedings would show their effect on the child's health, while feedings regulated by the clock would give the child a better chance to grow strong and healthy.

Dr. Fleming scoffed at the use of electric appliances in curing disease. He mentioned the old electric belt which was widely advertised. It was supposed to draw out the disease, "but the only thing it drew out was the money from its purchasers."

Further advancement of medical science will eventually rid the world of health superstitions, Dr. Fleming believed, but not until the time when all practised hygiene to avoid illness. The science of nutrition has made great progress in late years, he said. He did not approve of reducing diets or of the use of reducing medicines. He said that the fad of women of overweight who wanted to become slender was being carried too far. These women were undermining their strength through malnutrition.

At the questionnaire, Dr. Fleming said that there was not much attention being paid to the prevention of smallpox in the Province of Quebec. In reply to another question he said that he did not believe that medical inspection in Montreal schools was very good. There was apathy on the part of the citizens to provide the necessary budget for the Health Department. This, he believed, was responsible for Montreal's high death rate.

On the question of smoking he advised the pipe. He laughed at the Spring tonic of sulphur and molasses. Fresh air was what was needed.

Following the death of a boy skater after being run down by an automobile, the jury at Islington, Scotland, recommended that roller skating on streets be prohibited.
